

LA FOLLETTE'S FUNDS ARE ALL EXPLAINED

LESS THAN SIXTY FOUR THOU.
SAND DOLLARS WAS EX-PENDED IN CAMPAIGN.

RECEIVE CONTRIBUTIONS

From Many Sources All Itemized and Presented to the Senate Investigation Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 7.—Six witnesses were ready to testify when the Clapp committee investigating campaign funds resumed work today. An account of the receipts and expenses of Senator La Follette campaign for the republican presidential nomination
was filed with the committee today,
showing the senator collected $63, 969.56 and spent $62,961.56. Charles R. Crane as the largest contributor is credited with $23,500 given in several installments extending over the period from Dec. 14, 1911 to June 17, 1912.

Gifford Pinchot, Amos Pinchot, and Representative William Kent of California each contributed $10,000. Alfred S. Baker gave $2,000; Rudolph Spreckels $3,000; William Flynn of Pennsylvania, $1,000 and Senator La Follette himself, $1,500. The account contains entries of two loans. One of $500 by Senator Gronna of North Dakota. Both are marked "repaid."

The accounts show $10,817.92 was paid for the Washington headquarters and the Chicago headquarters spent $10,540. La Follette's expenses at the republican national convention were $1,553.13 and the progressive conference held in Chicago last October
cost the La Follette managers $638.75.

Louis N. Hammerling, president of the Association of Foreign Newspapers said his only knowledge of 1912 campaign expenses concerned an advertising contract of $5,500 by the Roosevelt managers covering advertising in thirty newspapers for "Roosevelt delegates" in the New York primary fight.

John J. Hannan, secretary to Senator La Follette referring to E. H.
Hooker's statement that Charles R.
Crane had given $70,000 to the La Follette fund said the only amount he knew of Mr. Crane giving over and above that and entered in the account presented was $3,184.40 included in the statement of the Chicago bureau
and given to make up a deficit.

There were funds, he said, in the states with which he had nothing to do. Mr. Hooker testified that Mr.
Crane had given $70,000 to the La Follette fund at the same time he had given $70,000 to Governor Wilson's campaign. "The expenses of the California campaign" said the witness
"were born largely by Rudolph Spreckels, who made no accounting to us."

Senator Pomeroy called attention to the statement by Hooker that Mr.
Crane had "up to a certain date given $70,000 to the La Follette campaign."

"There was no such arrangement contributed," said Mr. Hannan. He mentioned "personal contributions made to Senator La Follette, one of $2,500
by Mr. Spreckels." Charles R. Crane testified he gave $26,684.40 to Senator La Follette's campaign and $10,-

000 to Governor Wilson's fund, before the Baltimore convention. "Mr. Crane was appointed minister to China in 1909 and recalled by President Taft before he assumed office."

"Are these all the contributions made either to Senator La Follette or Governor Wilson?" asked Senator
Clapp.

"Yes sir, all."

He denied having told Hooker he had contributed $70,000 each. "I just wanted to have one progressive succeed," said Mr. Crane. "I did not care which one it was."

When Charles Edward Russell, socialist candidate for governor of New York took the stand Chairman Clapp read to him a report of one of his speeches describing an alleged telephone conversation between J. P.
Morgan and the White House during the 1904 campaign in which Morgan was asked for a $100,000 contribution to the republican campaign funds.

The published report said Wayne MacVeagh, former attorney general,
was a witness to the conversation.
Mr. Russell said the story came to him in 1910 from a magazine writer, who told him he had the story from
Mr. MacVeagh.

After the committee insisted on knowing the name of the writer Mr.
Russell said he was Judson C. Wel-ver. Mr. Russell said he had never made a charge that Col. Roosevelt had demanded funds of Mr. Morgan or that he might have been Mr. Cortvello or Mr. Bliss who was said to have talked to Mr. Morgan on the telephone," he declared.

CONVENTION OF TEAMSTERS OPENED IN INDIANAPOLIS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—Between 200 and 300 delegates from various parts of the United States and Canada were present here today when the biennial convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablenmen and Helpers
was called to order by President Engel J. Tobin of Cambridge, Mass. The officers' reports showed an increase of about 10,000 members in the past two years and a treasury gain of $60,000 in the same period. Indications point to the re-election of President Tobin and nearly all of the other officers.

Star Reappointed: F. P. Starr has been reappointed a member of the

ern Woodmen of America by Head Consul A. R. Talbot. His term of office will expire Aug. 1, 1914.

CLARK CHANGES HIS PLEA TO "GUILTY"
IN FEDERAL COURT

Business Agent of Eridge and Iron workers' Union Admitted His Guilt of Charges on Fifty-five Counts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—Edward Clark of Cincinnati today pleaded guilty to the government's charges in the dynamite conspiracy. As soon as court opened District Attorney Chas.
W. Miller addressed Federal Judge
A. B. Anderson: "It pleases the court the defendant, Clark of Cincinnati, wishes to change his plea from
'not guilty' to 'guilty'."

Clark then stepped forward. "Do you plead guilty?" asked Judge Anderson. "I plead guilty," said Clark.
The prisoner was then separated from the other forty-five defendants and taken to jail to await the imposing of his sentence. Clark pleaded guilty to all the charges—five counts of conspiracy, and 50 counts of being a principal to the actual illegal interstate shipment of dynamite and nitroglycerine.

Clark was business agent and president of local union 44 of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers from January, 1908, to July, 1911.

His activities in promoting explosions, Mr. Miller asserted, were carried on through letters written by Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, and the McNamara's. An ivory handled umbrella bearing the initials
"E. C." found in the wreckage of a dynamited bridge at Dayton, Ohio, Mr.
Miller said, led to the disclosure that Clark actually had caused the explosion, having used the umbrella to protect the dynamite from the rain and then leaving it behind. Clark also was charged with carrying out plots against employees of non-union labor.
Herbert S. Hopkin, acting secretary, treasurer of the union, was charged by Mr. Miller with "double dealings" with Clark.

"The executive board of the ironworkers' union agreed upon a fixed price of $200 for each job," said Mr.
Miller to the jury.

blow to the prosecution caused no change in the plans for the opening today of the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal.

SUMS UP SITUATION
AS MOST FAVORABLE
AT PRESENT TIME

President Is Gratified By Reports Received From All Parts Of The United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Duluth, Minn., Oct. 7.—President Taft rested Sunday in the home of Senator Crane where he is a guest with Mrs. Taft and Miss Mabel Boardman. The president reviewed the political situation for a party of friends and gave this summary:
"I have been especially gratified
by the news from the northwest states. Chairman Hillies of the Republican national committee, who has been visiting the northwest, tells me reports from all parts of those states being most gratifying evidence of Republican confidence and activity."

"The population of the northwest is convinced that the third term candidate is no longer in the running and that the choice is between the Republican platform and candidates,
on the one hand and on the other hand the Democratic platform, with its plank of a tariff for revenue only and its candidate, Gov. Wilson, who said in an address at Williams Grove, Pa., that the farmer does not need protection."

"The principal reason for the existing prosperity is the assurance that,
under the Republican policy of home
protection and trade expansion American industry, while reaching for the foreign market, is not in danger of losing the home market. While our foreign trade is growing more rapidly than at any time in our history, domestic commerce is making advances fully as remarkable."

"Our population is increasing, the demand for the necessities of life is increasing proportionately and thanks to active business and good wages, the people are able to pay for what they want to keep our industries busy supplying their wants.
Hence general and growing prosperity, with a certainty of still better conditions."

REV. RANDOLPH AIDS CAUSE OF SUFFRAGE

Auto Load of Janesville Workers Attend Meetings at Footville and Orfordville Today.

An auto load of local suffrage workers went to Footville and Orfordville
this afternoon where the Rev. L. C.
Randolph delivered addresses in behalf of the woman suffrage cause. Rev.
Randolph is pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church at Milton and is an eloquent and forceful speaker. His address at the recent meeting of the county ministers in which he urged the right of the ballot for women was especially strong.

The members of the Janesville party were entertained at supper at the homes of Footville suffrage workers.

Booth at Convention.
The political equality league will have a booth at the Congregational church this week from which suffrage literature will be distributed to the delegates and any who wish it.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE TO MEET

Chairman H. L. McNamara Calls Meeting for Thursday Afternoon at City Hall.

Chairman H. L. McNamara has called a meeting of the republican county committee to be held at the assembly room of the city hall on the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 10, at two o'clock. Notices were sent to the various committeemen today. At this meeting a chairman and a secretary will be elected, reports will be received, and other business transacted.
It is probable that the committee will take some stand on the republican situation in this state.

SOCIALIST ORATOR
HERE ON WEDNESDAY

W. A. Jacobs of Milwaukee Will Deliver Address on Corn Exchange Square.

Announcement has been received that W. A. Jacobs of Milwaukee, prominent socialist orator, will deliver an address on the Corn Exchange Square in this city on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Jacobs is sent out by the socialist state committee in the interest of the cause. He has appeared before a Janesville audience in a previous occasion. A large audience is expected.

TEN PER CENT REDUCTION

is made in the charge of all Want Ads that run continuously in the Gazette for one week. For all that run a month or longer 20 per cent is deducted from the bill. Many articles—Real Estate, Live Stock, Pianos, etc.— are advertised which are not expected to be sold from one insertion and it is for these that the above reductions are made.
If the articles you have for sale
are such that they require more than three insertions to bring buyers order them in for a week and save 10 per cent on the bill.

HOPE TO AVERT WAR
IF IT IS POSSIBLE
IS THE PRESENT PLAN

Powers Seek to Intervene in Balkan Troubles And Bring About
Peace If It Is Possible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Eng., Oct. 7.—The Balkan situation is considered today in all quarters as more hopeful. The decision of the powers to take joint action
to put an end to the crisis is greeted with satisfaction. They will take steps today or at the latest tomorrow to impress their views both upon Turkey and the Balkan states.
Austria and Russia have been selected to act on behalf of the other great powers at the Balkan capitals, while all the ambassadors are to take part in the representations to be made to the Ottoman government.

A dispatch received here from Constantinople says that the proposed joint action by the powers taken in conjunction with the decision of Turkey to introduce reforms in her European provinces is regarded as a sign that the influence of the powers has been successful and that war is now improbable. The London stock exchange was more cheerful today, Consols gaining 1-16.

The announcement that the Pope is prepared to offer mediation in the Balkans was made by the Vatican,
after a hurried meeting of the chief sacred congregation according to a news agency dispatch from Rome.

NOVEL PLANS MADE TO BENEFIT CITIES

To Aid Commercial and Industrial Development of Wisconsin Cities and Towns.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—How the commercial and industrial development of Wisconsin cities, towns and villages is to be aided through expert advice given by the department of general information and welfare of University of Wisconsin Extension
Division, was outlined by Prof.
J. L. Gillin, the new secretary of that department before the state conference of charities and correction at Lathrop Hall this afternoon.

"There is no doubt that a large number of places in Wisconsin need expert advice in methods of city development," said Prof. Gillin. "The character of the business and industries in a large number of our towns is changing. This is especially true in the northern part of Wisconsin, where once were the lumber camps, but it is none the less true of a large number of our towns which were once merely centers of agricultural communities,
without manufacturing industries."

"The time has come for our whole middle west, when towns that do not concern themselves about the industrial and social changes that are going on, the new demands that are arising in the commercial world, will die. In fifty years from now, other things being equal, those towns that take thought for the commercial and industrial future, meeting the new demands that the changing times are making upon them, will be the cities of Wisconsin."

"The department of general information and public welfare of the University has as one of its aims the assistance of communities which desire to promote their industrial and commercial development. It endeavors to serve as a center to connect such cities and smaller places with men, who for a reasonable sum, will be glad to assist in a campaign for a short period; or the secretary of the department will be glad to co-operate with commercial and industrial organization in any of our Wisconsin towns to promote the development of these communities."

To Aid in General Uplift.
"This department endeavors to cooperate with all sorts of voluntary organizations, such as commercial clubs, "Y" clubs, improvement leagues, welfare leagues, health societies,
women's clubs, church clubs, in short,
all kinds of organizations which have
for their aim the uplift of the community. All the resources of the University are at the disposal of the secretary to help the communities of Wisconsin to answer the questions which they are asking with respect to their social welfare."

To Hold Community Institutes.
"In order to help communities to solve their social problems the department will assist in organizing and holding a number of community institutes in those places where the need seems to be greatest and where the time seems to be ripe for a movement for social uplift. In these institutes
the aim will be to teach the people who wish to know the facts about how their community can be improved in every possible way."

To Make Social Surveys.
"Finally, it is the aim of the department to assist communities that wish to take stock of themselves in making what is now known as a "social survey." All betterment begins with information. No physician would attempt to give treatment until he had diagnosed the case. A social survey is a social diagnosis. This department is ready to co-operate with any community in the state in helping the people to carry through a survey that will show them the weak spots in their social life and the strong advantages which they could develop."

QUESTION OF BAIL IN LAWRENCE TRIAL

Judge Considers Whether Three Italians Charged With Murder in Strike Riot Shall be Released.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Salem, Mass., Oct. 7.—The question of releasing on bail the three members of the Industrial Workers of the World who are defendants in the Lopizzo murder trial was considered
by Judge Joseph Quinn in Superior Court today. Motion that Joseph Caruso be allowed to furnish bonds was waived last week. Just before the adjournment of the trial Judge Quinn announced that he would hear the argument today. Ettore Giovannitti and Caruso were prominent in the strike riots in Lawrence last January.
During a night riot incident to the strike, Anna Lopizzo, a mill hand was shot and the three men were arrested charged with being responsible for the crime. Ettore and Giovannitti are accessories before the fact and Caruso
as principal.

PROMINENT ST. PAUL WOMAN DROPS DEAD

Mrs. Perry Starkweather Who Was to Give Address in Janesville
This Week Dies Suddenly

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Perry Starkweather of this city, head of the Department of women and children of the Minnesota Bureau of Labor, dropped dead when about to board a train at the union station early today.

Mrs. Starkweather with her husband was about to leave for Madison, Wisconsin, where she had an appointment for a conference with officials of the Wisconsin Bureau of Labor today and to deliver an address before the federation of Women's Clubs at Janesville, Wisconsin, later in the week. Near train time Mr. and Mrs.
Starkweather walked out onto the platform and were just about to step on the train when, without warning,
Mrs. Starkweather fell back into her husband's arms and expired immediately.

Mrs. Starkweather's record in her work for the protection of women and children workers is nation wide and during the past few years she had addressed the legislatures of several states.

DRIVER RECOVERING; MECHANICIAN DYING

Physicians State De Palma Will Reported Dying.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Oct. 7.—There was practically no change this morning
in the condition of Ralph De Palma, injured in an accident during the last day of the Grand Prix automobile race Saturday. De Palma spent a quiet night. Dr. M. L. Henderson said today that if no turn for the worse occurs before night he has the utmost confidence in the patient's ultimate recovery.

Tony Scudellari, mechanic (or the late truck driver) who was injured when the famous pilot sustained injuries which resulted in his death,
was said this forenoon to be dying.

DULUTH STREET CARS WERE STONED BY ANGRY MOB.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Duluth, Minn., Oct. 7.—The street cars were stoned here last night by a mob. Women left the cars in terror while a baby in arms was wounded in the face by thrown stones. Refused transfers a crowd of people tore the pole from the cars and left.

GIFFORD PINCHOT INVADES WISCONSIN FOR BULL MOOSE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Gifford Pin-chot formerly chief forester of the United States spent Sunday in St.
Paul and left early today for Ashland
where he addresses progressive meeting tonight. Mr. Pinchot will conduct a whirlwind campaign in Northern Wisconsin during the next two or three days.

AMERICAN BOARD OF MISSIONS REPORTED FREE FROM DEBT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Portland, Maine, Oct. 7.—The 103rd
annual meeting of the American Board of foreign missions will begin here tomorrow. Officials will report the board free from debts for the fourth time, despite the great display. The receipts being $1,063,413 and the expenditures $1,062,080. Only once before have the receipts passed the one million dollar mark.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY MEN IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7.—The American Electric Railway Association, representing the 1,300 electric railways in the United States, holds its annual convention in Chicago this week. As a feature of the convention there was opened today the largest and most interesting exhibition of electric railway equipment and apparatus of all descriptions that has ever been collected.

Recall Battle of King's Mountain.
Kings Mountain, N. C., Oct. 7.—The 132nd anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountain, in which a band of colonial militia severely defeated the British, was celebrated here today with a military parade and literary exercises. Judge Peter C. Pritchard of Asheville delivered the oration of the day.

BULL MOOSERS PLAN INVASION OF STATE;
DEFY LA FOLLETTE

Seek to Wreak Vengeance on Senior Senator by Sending Big Guns Into Wisconsin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Oct. 7.—Evidence that the Bull Moosers, with the big Bull Moose Roosevelt in the lead, intend to invade Wisconsin within the next few days and seek to discredit Senator La Follette in his home community
and at the same time help their dear friend Governor McGovern to gain
re-election, is evidenced by the activity at the Bull Moose headquarters in this city.

There is no lack of funds apparent
here and the organization is well equipped with a full stenographic force that is busy sending out the Bull Moose literature throughout the state. Also plans for the coming of some speakers, of national reputation is evidence that the fight against La Follette is to be bitter.

Roosevelt will be in the state within the next two weeks. So will Senator Bristow of Kansas, George L. Roca of New Jersey and several others of the big guns in the bull moose camp.
The state central committee is assured
that all the speaking talent needed,
which can be used to advantage, will be sent into the state to neutralize the work of Senator La Follette against the bull moose.

"Incidental to the desire to put the senior senator out of the running is a wish to give Gov. McGovern assistance, fearing lest he may suffer from his attitude in supporting Roosevelt.
Closely allied with these is the hope to put Senator La Follette in the background, so far as the progressive movement goes, and leave Roosevelt alone in the leadership. The campaign will attract the attention of the country and among politicians it is admitted that the result may determine La Follette's future political career."

A dispatch from New York on Saturday said that Col. Roosevelt would leave there on Monday for southern Michigan on a tour through that state,
Minnesota and Wisconsin, ending with a meeting in Chicago on the night of Saturday, Oct. 12.

According to the schedule given out,
the colonel will go up through the southern peninsula of Michigan and from there go to the northern peninsula and thence over into Minnesota, speaking at St. Paul. It was stated he would then go to Milwaukee and Madison and go to Chicago for the Saturday night meeting.

Chairman Hemmy of the democratic state central committee said Saturday that the democratic state campaign would be well under way by the middle of the week. W. J. Bryan, it is said, might come into the state.
Plans for bringing him here have been tentatively laid, though whether he would come or not has not been decided. Mr. Hemmy said the campaign would begin with the appearance of Gov. Thomas H. Marshall in Wisconsin. Gov. Marshall is to give one day to Wisconsin and will speak Thursday afternoon at Fond du Lac
and that night he will be at Oshkosh.
Meanwhile plans are being made for sending out a force of local speakers to cover the state. Wednesday night
H. W. Bolens and Congressman M. E.
Burke will speak at Clyman.

The republican state central committee has not yet got well under way,
but will within a few days. Chairman Scott left on Saturday for his home at Prairie Farm and will return on Tuesday. He will stop at Madison on his way back and may arrange with Senator La Follette on itinerary for the senator, who is expected to give considerable time to the state on account of the activities of the bull moosers.

The republican county committee is arranging a series of noonday meetings for this week, beginning on Monday. Arrangements for the meeting in the West Side Turner Hall Wednesday night, when Gov. McGovern will open his campaign, are in progress.

The non-partisan committee will meet Monday night in the colonial room in the Plankinton house, where the county campaign will be discussed and the loose ends in the way of organization taken up. It is the intention to get the county campaign under way within a few days and push it energetically from that time until election day.

HUNT FOR MAIL PACKAGE CONTAINING A LARGE SUM.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York City, Oct. 7.—Postoffice authorities of the United States and Cuba are today engaged in a hunt for registered mail package containing $200,000 which is said to have mysteriously disappeared between Havana
and New York some time last week.
The money was consigned to one of the big downtown banks here by a correspondent in the Cuban capital. It is in bills of large denominations and the loss was discovered last Thursday.

CONCERT AUDITORIUM OPENED AT TORONTO

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 7.—Many music lovers from out of town are in the city to attend the opening of Toronto's new concert auditorium. The opening is to be marked by a series of notable concerts, which will last
the entire week and will have as participants: Alice Nielsen, Felice Lave, Olive Fremstad, Johanna Gadski, Mar-cella Sembrich, Antonio Scotti, and a number of other singers of wide reputation. The new auditorium cost $500, 000 and seats 7,000 people.

The Catskill Mountains

is the title of a beautifully illustrated book which has been published by one of our eastern railway companies and is in the hands of the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for distribution. These mountains, made famous by Washington Irving in his tales of the Legend of Sleepy Hollow and Rip Van Winkle, are declared by many travelers to be the most picturesque mountain region on the globe, and the person who has never had the pleasure of a trip to the haunts of Rip Van Winkle will be filled with a desire to make a trip eastward which will include a sight seeing tour, if not a sojourn at some of the delightful points described in this book.

SEVERE ARRAIGNMENTS OF THE AUTHORITIES

QUESTION OF CITY'S MORALS TAKEN UP IN BOTH CATHOLIC CHURCHES SUN. DAY.

PLAIN TRUTH IS TOLD

Public By Dean Reilly and Father W. A. Goebel in Their Respective Churches.

Sermons tending to awake the civic spirit of citizens were delivered at both St. Patrick's and St. Mary's Catholic churches Sunday. The direct cause for the sermons was due to the recent terrible murder of Matilda Bergsterman on Monday evening last. Both the priests blamed the lax methods of parents and the city government in particular for the conditions that exist throughout the city. The following are brief summaries of their talks.

Present civic conditions in the city of Janesville were decalated to be intolerable by the Rev. Dean E. J. Reilly at St. Patrick's church in his address to his congregation at the half past seven o'clock and half past ten o'clock services at the church Sunday morning. Rev. Reilly attacked the existing state of affairs in the city which would permit and lead up to such a crime as was committed last Monday evening.

He said in his discussions of conditions in the city that the city government seems to be powerless to maintain law and order in the city, and has absolutely failed to carry out its promises. Present conditions, he said, are proof that the law is ignored.

Other statements made by Dean Reilly in his addresses are as follows: "Women passing along the streets at night are in danger of insults from hoodlums who stand on the sidewalks."

"The 'red light' district is tolerated without protest or any efforts being made to suppress it."

"Licenses to sell liquor are given to men who are known to be entirely unfit to engage in that business, and liquor is sold to women and minors."

"Conditions at present are worse than when the new administration came into office. The time has come for the citizens to take a hand in securing a better government and a better observance of the law. The people are losing their respect for the law and the recent crime in the city appeals to every citizen to do his part in securing better conditions."

"The police force of Janesville is not large enough to keep order under the present conditions. The law seems to be ignored both above and below; that is, by both citizens and officials."

Laxness in parental discipline, the neglect of the moral training of children, the loosening of home ties, and the decay of interest in the home were attacked by the Rev. Father W. A. Goebel, rector of St. Mary's church in his sermon yesterday morning as responsible for such crimes as the murder of Matilda Bergsterman. The Rev. Father Goebel opened his address by requesting the prayers of the congregation for the repose of the soul of the murdered woman, whom he said was one of his most faithful parishioners. Although living a great distance from the church and in miserable poverty she attended services regularly the year through. Only last Sunday she had been in his sermon yesterday morning as responsible for such crimes as the murder of Matilda Bergsterman.

The Rev. Father Goebel opened his address by requesting the prayers of the congregation for the repose of the soul of the murdered woman, whom he said was one of his most faithful parishioners. Although living a great distance from the church and in miserable poverty she attended services regularly the year through. Only last Sunday she had been in his sermon yesterday morning as responsible for such crimes as the murder of Matilda Bergsterman.

Matilda Bergsterman came to an untimely death. She died without priest and without the administration of the sacrament. Every detail of her death and struggle so far learned revealed the fact that she fought unto death for her virtue and died a martyr's death."

The Rev. Goebel referred to the fact that she was unguarded and subjected to an ungentlemanly outrage which should arouse the citizenship of Janesville to do all that is possible toward the bettering of the moral conditions of the city. He found a great deal of fault with the conditions in many homes. Many were not what they should be. Young people did not take the proper interest in them; but devoted their time and money to other things. What little was done for the home was the work of the hard-working father and mother.

"Parents," said Rev. Goebel, "are very much to blame for permitting such a state of affairs. The education and training of children having been seriously neglected, it is to be expected that their interests will be outside the home. Fathers and mothers leave the doors of the home open so that the children may return at any time of night and in any condition. They arise and go about their daily occupation in the morning without reprimand or investigation as to their whereabouts during the night. This is a situation worthy of the serious consideration of the parent."

As an illustration of parental neglect Father Goebel referred to a personal experience. While hurrying to the bedside of a sick parishioner at 1:30 o'clock on a Sunday morning he met two young couple in their coats loitering near the Wisconsin Carriage Company's factory. The one of them was a girl, the other a man, who he was bearing the sacrament he was unable to pause and reprimand them.

"I wondered," he said, "what and where were the homes that sheltered them, and whose doors were opened for their coming?" The presence of young boys loitering about the stage doors of the opera house, waiting for the show to close was instanced by the speaker as one of the signs of youthful depravity. Another is the practice of young people, girls especially, of walking to the outskirts of the city and boarding trains for South Janesville. Referring to the latter situation, the Rev. Goebel said that while the Board of Supervisors had the privilege of visiting saloons, he thought that if the district attorney would inaugurate a cleaning up campaign in South Janesville he would receive the support of every decent and honorable citizen.

"In a community which licenses saloons, licenses should be granted only to men who own real estate or other property which makes them responsible. They should be men of unquestioned moral character and disposed to keep an orderly place."

"The charge has been made that the two young men connected with the recent murder had been drinking. If this be the case, investigation should be made to find what saloons admitted minors. Beloit has been considered an abomination compared with Janesville but we are told that if a saloon-keeper admits a minor or a woman, much less give them a drink, his license would be revoked at once. We have good officers in Janesville and every man of us should encourage them in their efforts to compel observance of the laws."

Suffragists, their aims and hopes were also touched upon by the Rev. Father in his sermon yesterday. He told the women of his congregation that they had his permission to attend the address on suffrage tomorrow evening but expressed the opinion that granting the ballot to women would not get to the root of the evils it is expected to remedy.

"The Catholic church teaches that the remedy for the evils that confront us lies in moral and religious training in the home or in the parish school provided by the church. The Saviour placed woman on a high pedestal of dignity and honor and this position is to be found in the home of which she is queen. A good woman having the care of an inviting home is an object of admiration for husband, son, and every man. The things the Suffragist desire to accomplish can be better accomplished there than in the pool and mire of politics. Had the fathers and mothers in the homes of the two young men who are to stand trial for this awful crime looked to their moral and religious training in time they would not now be raising money to defend them from its consequences."

JURY CALENDAR IS SET FOR NOVEMBER

October Calendar of Circuit Court Called by Judge Grimm at Court Chambers This Afternoon.

Judge George Grimm called the calendar for the October term of the circuit court for Rock county at the court chambers in the court house this afternoon. With the exception of three or four minor cases which have been settled or are about to be settled there is little change in the number of cases as three new jury cases were added to the calendar. They are: Anthony J. Smith vs. Rockford and Interurban company, Frederick Emerson vs. Paul Halverson, and the Davis Acetylene company vs. William Bahr, all involving Beloit parties.

By the unanimous consent of the members of the Rock county bar the jury calendar was placed over to Nov. 18. Four cases were placed on the day calendar for that day: State of Wisconsin vs. Josephine Capman, State of Wisconsin vs. Charlie Shinn, all cases appealed from the Beloit municipal court, the latest chapter in the notorious Shimeall trouble, F. L. Clemmons, Adm. vs. Rockford and Interurban company, and Maude S. Schumaker. Two other cases are still to be announced for the day calendar.

The case of Solomon Haas vs. town of Turtle, was set for Nov. 25, and the case to follow that will be the $100,000 alienation of affection suit brought by Arthur A. Baird against Norman L. Carle.

Among out of town attorneys who were here for the opening day of the term were: J. C. Root, Cornelius Buckley, C. D. Rosa, Owen Riland, and T. D. Dooley, all of Beloit; Edgar Wood and Chas. H. Reader, of Milwaukee; F. L. Jones and R. M. Richmond of Evansville; and Chas. Clancy of Stoughton.

Colored Couple Divorced.

Jennie Reed secured a divorce from her husband, Phillip Reed, both colored, before Judge Grimm in the circuit court this afternoon following their marriage in Rockford in April, 1911. The defendant did not appear. Both reside in Janesville and are well known.

LOCAL GREEKS MAY JOIN GRECIAN ARMY

William Pappas Starts for Home Land Tomorrow and Others May Go if War is Declared.

One member of the colony of Greeks residing in this city, William Pappas, formerly porter at the Hotel Myers, will leave this city tomorrow morning for Chicago, where he will join a large band of his countrymen and go to New York to sail from there for Greece to be there in case their services are needed in the Grecian army. Two or three other Greeks in this city may also return to their native country to fight for her cause in case war is declared against Turkey, but the total number from Janesville, who will go will not be in excess of six.

The Janesville colony is not a large one, numbering only about fifteen men. Of these the greater number have business interests here, and would be unable to go.

From Beloit, however, a large number of Greeks are preparing to return to the homeland. There are about two hundred of them employed in the shops of the Line City, and one hundred and fifty of these, it is said, will go to Milwaukee to join a party of one thousand Greeks from Wisconsin, who will sail from New York for Greece on a steamship especially chartered to carry recruits from this country.

Nearly all of the Greeks in this country who came to America after they were of age have seen military service and are trained to military life. The laws of the country require that every young man, as soon as he becomes of age, shall serve eighteen months in the army. Formerly the law excepted the oldest son in every family, who was left to protect the family, but the law has been changed so as to include all men twenty-one years of age. A few in this city, who came to America before they were of age, have not performed their military service.

MISSING FOOTVILLE GIRL MAY BE FOUND

Rockford Police Arrest Girl in Boy's Clothes Who Answers Description—Look Into Identity

Maggie Knight of Footville, said to have been missing from her home since July 3, is believed captured by the Rockford police, a girl answering her description having been arrested there dressed in boy's clothes. She claimed to be from Footville, but gave her name as Nellie Ryan. After she had been arrested by the Rockford police she broke away from them and fled to Belvidere, but she was recaptured there and brought back. A sister of the missing girl who attends school in this city, and A. M. Baker, the contractor who is building the Decker garage went to Rockford today to find out if the girl held there is Maggie Knight. Mr. Baker is well acquainted with the Knight family. The missing girl is said to have a habit of frequently leaving home without notice or stating her destination.

RUNAWAY BOY FROM BELOIT TAKEN FROM TRAIN HERE.

Janesville Police Officer, Acting On Instructions Telephoned From Beloit Made Capture.

Harry Goldberg, a runaway boy from Beloit was removed from the north-bound Northwestern train here at midnight by Patrolman Harry Smith, acting on instructions telephoned from the Beloit headquarters. He was brought to the police station and locked up pending the arrival of a Beloit officer who was expected to call for him at noon. Goldberg was not inclined to talk much but said that he had been having trouble with "The old man" and wanted to get out and shift for himself. He said he was on his way to Madison and hinted that the next time he attempted to get away he would manage it more cleverly. Goldberg is eighteen years old.

HIBERNIANS TO INITIATE LARGE CLASS ON SUNDAY

Twenty New Members To Be Taken In By Local Division At Exercises Next Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon next, a class of twenty will be initiated into the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the initiation ceremonies being held in Spanish War Veterans' hall. A number of the Hibernians from Madison will be here for the exercises, and State President Joseph P. Callan and Prof. M. G. Rohrer of Milwaukee will attend as delivery addresses. A good program has been arranged for the occasion. This is the fourth class that has been initiated by the local division this year, and with the class to be initiated, the membership will be increased to over two hundred members.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Brotherhood Meeting: The Otterbein Brotherhood of the United Brethren church will have the first meeting of the year tonight. The annual election of officers will take place. The subject for discussion will be "How Can We Help Improve Our Moral Conditions in Our City?" Attempts Suicide: A man believed to be Alexander Tersions attempted to commit suicide on Saturday at the home of G. S. Grant, 412 Public Place, Beloit, by inhaling illuminating gas. Nothing was found on his person but a scrap of paper giving the name of Mrs. Dawson of this city who conducts a rooming house at 215 Cherry street. Inquiries made at her home disclosed the fact that Tersions was in the city last week with a number of other men carrying pictures. His home is in Fond du Lac. Last reports gave his condition as critical.

1. O. O. F. No. 14: Regular meeting of Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., this evening. All members are requested to be present as business of importance will come before the meeting. E. O. Smith, N. G.; H. W. Lee, Secy.

Three Drunks Arraigned: But three drunks were arraigned before Judge Milford this morning, a comparatively small number for a Monday morning. Joe Reitz paid guilty and paid a fine of $4 and costs. He first entered a plea of not guilty, but changed his mind. A man with the famous English name of Charles Kingsley was sent to jail for seven days and Thomas Connors, an old offender, got ten days.

Wants Information on Dwyer: Al-muth C. Vandover, a New York attorney, has written Chief of Police Appleby, enclosing a clipping concerning the insurance carried by the late Edward L. Dwyer, and requests additional information on that subject.

Trial Again Postponed: The trial of the case of the State vs. William Lawyer, charged with the illegal shooting of prairie chickens, has been postponed for another week to October 13. The jury in the case was to have been drawn today but other legal business out of the city required Mr. Lawyer's attention, so his attorney, Charles Pierce, asked for an adjournment.

Making Opportunity.

When the young physician's motor-car reached the scene of the accident there was nothing to do; all the victims had been so slightly hurt that they were able to walk home. The young doctor was keenly disappointed, but his chauffeur spoke up cheerfully: "Never mind, doctor, I'll run down some business on the way home."

LOS ANGELES WOMAN GIVES AN ADDRESS IN SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells Tells of Work As A Police Officer At Meeting Here Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, police officer of Los Angeles, Cal., spoke before an interested audience in Library Hall Sunday afternoon. The meeting was arranged by the Political Equality League of Rock county, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Janet B. Day.

Mrs. Wells, who is the mother of three lovely children, a sweet-faced little lady whose gentle earnestness carries conviction, is a shining example of what women can do to help municipal government. Her especial work in the police force is to see that amusement parks, "movies," dance halls and all public amusement places are kept clean and decent, and that the city ordinance is enforced forbidding proprietors to admit children under 14 years old unless they are accompanied by a parent or guardian.

She helps children and parents who have lost track of each other to be reunited and investigates cases of abused women. She tells great things of what Los Angeles has accomplished in cleaning up the city since equal suffrage has made it possible for the women to come to the support of the men.

Home-Maker and Voter.

She spoke of the home-keeping women whose valuable work is not recognized, who are made to feel they have no right to money, a status, or a mind of their own, and of the necessity of making the work of home-maker a trained and honored profession. The vote given to women helps to emphasize their dignity and importance in the world, while the lack of any recognition of the value of woman's normal work is sending girls into shops and factories where low wages and bad conditions unfit them for their work as wives and mothers.

In Los Angeles, the women have taken admirably the responsibility of voting. They are more interested than ever in issues that touch the home. Men need no longer leave home to discuss politics. It is a mutual interest to husband and wife, and children are brought up with an interest in matters of state. The character of voting places has been improved with universal suffrage. The last election in Los Angeles made use of 14 schools and 4 churches as polling places. Before a recent election there, the women invited all the candidates to a picnic the day before election and made each one declare from a platform what he stood for.

For Moral Betterment.

Women are interested in having a moral government. It is not fair or right to leave the work of cleaning up the world to men. Two things, exist, said Mrs. Wells, which have no right to exist, drunkenness and prostitution. The solution of these moral problems is difficult. The moral, intellectual and physical strength of women has been growing from age to age, and should be used to combat these evils which drag down the status of society. The standard of women must now be raised, or the standard of men will be dragged down.

Miss Lovejoy then explained the purpose of this meeting to interest people in joining the Political Equality League and helping the work of distributing literature and canvassing, which will be heavy until November. A number of new members joined the league, some of whom, together with some ladies already league members, propose to form a sort of distributing auxiliary to give the cause special aid in these last few weeks before election.

After the singing of "America," the crowd dispersed, carrying away various pamphlets and flyers to pass on to their friends.

Marty O'Toole, Pittsburgh's $22,500 beauty, looks like another "Rube" Marquard. Rube obtained a poor start with the Giants and was considered the biggest lemon in baseball for two seasons. Finally he came along and made good with a vengeance, justifying the fancy price New York paid for him. Now Marty is doing the same thing.

Just because the national baseball commission wanted to make a small fortune out of the "movies" we shall be denied the pleasure of witnessing the world's series in moving pictures this fall and winter. The moving picture men agreed among themselves that the prices asked by the commission were way out of reason and refused to come across.

The National baseball commission must be composed of very high-class financiers. Fans will attend the world's series not to see that precious commission or the club owners. Yet the latter will get all the receipts after four games, and 40 per cent of the first four, except 10 per cent of the total which the commission pulls down. This is one hefty argument in favor of having the players represented on the commission.

Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox says the Boston Americans hit his spitball and will hit Tesreau's. "Have you noticed, by the way," says Ed, "that you hear no more talk that the spitball ruins a pitcher's arm? That impression was created, by Chesbro and Stricklett, the first to use it, to scare other pitchers out of attempting it."

Jack White, of Chicago, and Andy Bezenah will probably figure in a ten-round glove contest in Cincinnati on October 14. White is under the management of Fred Gilmore and is one of the best lightweights ever turned out of the Windy City. Not long ago he fought Joe Mandot in Los Angeles. White has met Owen Moran and all the others in that class.

The Eastern bowling league, run by alley-keepers of New York and vicinity, will be made up of eight cities this season: New York, Brooklyn, Trenton, N. J., Newark, Patterson, Jersey City, Union Hill and Hoboken. The best bowlers of each city will roll in the individual and five team games, the most victories out of five games in each series winning the championship.

"Steve Yerkes, of the Boston Red Sox isn't hitting as well this year as he ought to with a pennant winning team," observes Hugh Fullerton. "He has slumped down to about .240. Normally he is a twenty point better hitter. It would look, from a study of five years of his batting, that he is a dangerous man with a weakness, and the New York pitchers would better study his weakness. I see by his scores that he trombones pitchers who are new in the circuit and falls before the veterans."

JANESVILLE ELEVEN PROVES ITS WORTH AGAINST STOUGHTON

Local Gridiron Players Show Speed and Form and Defeat Saturday's Opponents by 28 to 0 Score.

The Stoughton high school football team went down to defeat on Saturday when the Janesville eleven pumped away with them, by the decisive score of 28 to 0. Despite the hot wave which made the day unfavorable for football the locals fought all the way to gain the decision which they proved to do after four quarters of fast play.

The local team was a little slow in starting but after ten minutes of playing Edler awakened, together with the rest of the team, and they tore Stoughton's stone wall defense to nothing. After the first score was made the rest proved easy and the score was only a comparison of the strong and weak team.

The teams appeared on the field at 2:15, and ran through snappy signal drills, Janesville with their new uniforms, and the precision with which they worked together made a neat appearance on the field. The locals looked heavier than their opponents, although the weights were about the same.

Capt. Connell won the toss and chose to defend the east goal with the sun directly in the locals' eyes. At 2:55 Stoughton kicked to Connell, who returned the ball five yards. On the next play Connell lost three yards. Edler hit right tackle for eight yards. Ryan was held for no gain. Janesville was forced to punt and Ryan booted to O. Jerdee. Connell downing him in his tracks.

Stoughton failed to gain. A forward pass netted Stoughton ten yards. Janesville then held like a stone wall and forced their opponents to punt. Edler returned the ball ten yards. Janesville seemed to have the best of it now and by long runs by Cummings and Ryan and Edler they forced the ball to the twenty-yard line, where Edler on a trick-play was sent over for the first touchdown. Ryan missed goal. Score: Janesville, 6; Stoughton, 0.

Here the first quarter ended with the ball in Janesville's possession in the middle of the field. Stoughton recovered a fumble and forced the ball to the thirty-yard line where O. Jerdee attempted a place kick which failed.

The oval was given to Janesville on the 20 yard line and with long runs by Cummings and Edler the ball was placed on the 35 yard line, from where Edler kicked a perfect drop-kick, the ball sailing directly between the uprights. Score: Janesville, 9; Stoughton, 0.

Ryan kicked off to T. Jerdee, who returned the ball 20 yards. Stoughton was held and the ball went over. The first half ended with the ball in Janesville's possession on Stoughton's 20 yard line. Score: Janesville, 9; Stoughton, 0.

Ryan kicked to E. Olson, who returned the ball 15 yards. At this moment Mickelson replaced E. Hanson at left half. Ryan intercepted a long pass and ran thirty yards. Edler made it first down for Janesville by a plunge over left tackle. Stoughton failed to gain and they tried a forward pass which Edler jumped high to intercept and he ran 25 yards through the entire Stoughton team for a touchdown. Ryan kicked goal. Score: Janesville, 15; Stoughton, 0.

The remainder of the quarter was a struggle, the locals having the better of it. The ball was in Stoughton's possession when the whistle blew.

Janesville started the last quarter with teeth together. They determined to pile up the score and at once Cannon penalized on the next play for off side. Ryan smashed right guard for two yards. Edler, on a trick play, scored the third touchdown, while Ryan missed goal. Score: Janesville, 22; Stoughton, 0.

Edler kicked to E. Olson on the 35 yard line. Olson was downed for no gain. The most spectacular run of the game now came when Edler again intercepted a forward pass and ran 40 yards for the last touchdown. Edler received the kickoff but missed goal. Score: Janesville, 28; Stoughton, 0.

At this point Janesville subs replaced the regulars. They played in good form. The remainder of the game was slow, although the "highs" played consistently until the final whistle blow. Final score: Janesville, 28; Stoughton, 0.

Line-up of the teams was:

JANESVILLE.	Pos.	STOUGHTON
Smiley	le.	Lubey
Mohr	lt.	Stallier
Dalton	lg.	Severson
Cannon	c.	R. Hansen
Koch	rg.	Wade
Jones	rt.	A. Olson
Connell	qb.	Alkin
J. Stewart	ph.	E. Olson
Edler	lt.	H. Hansen
Cummings	rh.	O. Jerdee
Ryan	rh.	T. Jerdee

Touchdowns: Edler (4); goal from field, Edler (1); goal from touch-down, Ryan (1). Time of quarters, fifteen and twelve and one-half minutes. Referee, Curtis of Janesville.

Score by periods:

Period	1	2	3	4
Janesville	6	3	7	12-28

Coach Curtis should be given due credit for the forceful team which he rounded out. The team played the best which could be expected and sprang a surprise in the local camp. Edler played a remarkable game. His long runs were the feature of the game. This scar halfback has an accuracy for scoring, making it hard to down him. Ryan was there when needed to gain a few yards. His line plunges were many and also were good ground-gainers. He also punted well. Cummings, who was only last week shifted from left tackle to right half, proved to be a marvel in the backfield. It was surprising to see him tearing the ends for fifteen and twenty yards, which he repeatedly did throughout the game.

The veterans in the line were Connell, Cannon, Dalton and Smiley, while the new men, Koch, Jones and Mohr, worked in fine shape. Cannon was on the center job and broke up all mass plays. His height was a great advantage over the stocky Stoughton team. Capt. Connell tackled in great form and broke up interference with accuracy.

FOOTBALL MEN SIGN A TRAINING PLEDGE

Agree To Refrain From Use of Tobacco And Intoxicating Liquors.

At a recent meeting of the football players of the High School called by Curtis every member of the squad signed a pledge which was presented agreeing to refrain from the use of tobacco and intoxicating liquors. It was not the supposition that the boys were breaking training in these matters but the pledge was presented and signed as a precautionary measure. It reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, do hereby agree that we will refrain from all use of tobacco and intoxicating liquor of any form, unconditionally, while we are representing the Janesville High School in athletic contests, including the going and coming from the above mentioned contests."

In addition we also agree to report to the Athletic Coach or Supt. lined any disobedience of the above mentioned rule that may come within our knowledge.

BUOB'S BEER OR ALE (Our Own New Brew)

Is characterized by that gratifying "tang" so much appreciated by those who use it for its appetizing and nourishing qualities.

It has a flavor all its own and its purity has been unquestioned throughout all the years it has been brewed in Janesville.

Its tonic properties are such as to commend it as a valuable beverage for those troubled with insomnia and nervousness. Your doctor will vouch for this. Always have a case in the house. They are ideal as home beverages.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

The Oyster.
Who's traveled from his distant shore
Arriving in our midst once more?
The same old friend we knew of yore—
The oyster.

Who's served in all the swell cafes,
Cooked in a multitude of ways
For which old U. Consumer pays?
The oyster.

Who has the patience of a saint?
Who never speaks or makes complaint
Or utters protest, mild or faint?
The oyster.

Who plays the star part in the stew
At socials all the season through Alone, with no comrade in view?
The oyster.

No pride of ancestry has he
And no home of posterity.
Who gives his young life willingly?
The oyster.

Caught on the Fly.
Judging by the usual number of fresh election bets that are being recorded, the mental tone of this country isn't improving so very much, after all.

The "blues" is a form of insanity says a noted scientist. There must be a lot of insanity lurking in certain political circles just now.

It seems as though, according to some of the predictions, those campaign managers should really be managing the weather bureau.

It is now said there are germs in soap, which will serve as a fine excuse for the small boy who hates it, anyhow.

Boston doctors say the American race is becoming flat-footed. That probably comes from standing up in street cars.

If Detective Burns keeps on, the Pinkertons will have to hire a press agent.

Fashion journals say the skirts
will be higher next year. Impossible.
Almost time to put on the heavy Schedule K's.

Lillian Russell's latest husband is suffering the consequences of marrying a beauty specialist. He has been obliged to take up bag punching and regular gymnasium work.

A Cleve and lineer was knocked fifty feet in the air, but it is quite possible to stay on the sidewalk and be shocked nowadays if one looks at the fall styles.

The Populist national convention was held in a hotel parlor. It will soon be possible to hold it on the back platform of a street car.

gressives.

Must Pay the Fiddler.
La Crosse Tribune: "The thing about the McGovern statement that is most unfortunate is the injection into it of national issues. They had no place there, and he should have remembered that the support he will get is strictly on account of his state administration and in spite of his stand in national matters. However, it was his chance and he must pay the fiddler."

Some One Kindly Answer.
Milwaukee Free Press: "The Progressive has come to stay. It is a new party with no more connections with the old Republican party than with the old Democratic party. We are through, once and for all, with the Republican party."—Col. Roosevelt.
This is the new party Gov. McGovern has joined. If he is no longer a Republican how can he continue to be a candidate of the Republican party which he repudiates?

Making Votes For Karel.
Beloit News: "The Milwaukee Journal, pretended leader of the progressive press of the state, both Republican and Democratic, is now as busy
as a bee in a tar bucket making votes for 'Ikey' Karel for governor."

Plain Spoken.
Evening Wisconsin: McGovern,
the Bull Moose candidate for governor, has "done his damndest" to betray
the Republican party, and is not entitled to a single Republican vote.

T. R. To The Rescue.
Milwaukee Free Press: Will T. R.
come to the rescue of Gov. McGovern when he enters the state? And what will he say in reply to the onslaught of Senator La Follette?

The Situation at It Stands.
Upon request of several more or less constant readers, we have taken a careful view of the present political situation, reading editorial remarks by papers of all political complexions. A comprehensive resume of what we have learned on the subject is as follows:

Taft is certain to be re-elected and there is no possibility of his being defeated providing, of course, he gets more votes than Woodrow Wilson and Roosevelt combined. The bull moose movement is on the blink and will entirely die out before election day, but at the same time it is gaining strength rapidly and Mr. Roosevelt will be elected by a larger majority than he got when he ran against Parker.

Woodrow Wilson hasn't got a look in as the Democratic party is worse off than it has been in years, but notwithstanding this, Wilson will get a substantial majority over both Taft and Roosevelt and will ride to victory on the shoulders of 10,000 patriotic voters. Taft is very much worried about the outcome, but is sure that he will be elected. He is so unconcerned that he spends all of his time playing golf but, at the same time, he is so uneasy that he never takes his ear away from the ring-ding-dance telephone. Woodrow Wilson is certain of his election but expresses grave doubts. Theodore Roosevelt is considerably worried but gives out the information each morning that his election is certain. He is certain of election but is doubtful.

Tonight.
Bend low, O dusky Night
And give my spirit rest.
Hold men to your deep breast
And put old cares to flight.
Give back the lost delight
That once my soul possessed,
When peace was loveliest
Bend low, O dusky Night.

And promise, dusky Night,
The folk across the way
Will no piano play
And put all sleep to flight
Their racket will not hold sway
Some amateur Calve
To warble all the night.

Motto from Ruskin.
"Try to get strength of heart to look yourself fairly in the face in mind as well as body. I do not doubt that the mind is a less pleasant thing to look at than the face, and for that very reason it needs more looking at;
so always have two mirrors on your toilet table and see that with proper care you dress body and mind before them daily."

CONVENTION OPENS TOMORROW MORNING

IMPORTANT PROGRAM FOR INITIAL SESSION OF THREE DAYS' MEETING.

DELEGATES ARRIVING

Many Representatives From All Over State Arrive This Evening—Mrs. Starkweather's Death Causes Sorrow.

Four hundred delegates from out of the city are expected at the Congregational church tomorrow morning when the sixteenth annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs opens for a three days' session. This evening's trains brought a majority of the ladies, while others will arrive up to noon tomorrow.

The convention opens tomorrow at ten o'clock. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. J. F. Pember in behalf of the Janesville clubs. Most of the morning session will be given over to the reports of the federation officers and of various committees. It will be a most important business session.

Consternation and sorrow was caused here today among the local committees who are preparing for the convention at the announcement of the sudden death of Mrs. Mary L. Starkweather at St. Paul this morning. Press dispatches received at the Gazette office and published in another column tell of the sad news. She was to have led a round-table discussion tomorrow noon on the subject of "Women's Wages and Welfare and the Responsibility of the State."

It had not been learned here whether anyone would take her place. Previous to Miss Jane Addams' address on suffrage tomorrow evening, among the notable number on the program for the week, an elaborate musical recital will be given by local talent. The program for this and the other sessions tomorrow is given below:

Organ: Schorzo. Rogers
Mrs. John Fuller Sweeney.
Songs: "Voci di donna o d'angelo."

MADE IN JANESVILLE WEEK BEING TALKED

Secretary Lane of Commercial Club Plans For Interesting Display Of Local Products.

Secretary Lane of the Commercial Club this morning sent out letters of inquiry to local manufacturers as to whether they would have displays in the "Made in Janesville" exposition to be held at the Auditorium the week of November 11 to 16th. The success of the exhibit last year has fixed it as an annual feature and the display this year promises to surpass anything hitherto attempted.

Mr. Lane has worked out a most successful scheme of exhibits which will be novel and unique. One feature will be a fully equipped home, from kitchen to roof, displaying Janesville products. This could be easily accomplished with the aid of the construction companies aiding in the work utilizing Janesville sand and gravel for the cement work. It would be a most novel feature and would give an excellent idea of how many articles for a home could be found in Janesville without going outside the city for material.

It is expected that the space reservation will be at a premium within a short time as the number of exhibitors last year far exceeded expectations and many who did not exhibit then plan to do so this year.

Mr. Lane has also several other novel ideas to be worked out in the decoration scheme and with band concerts, special features, it promises to be a most interesting affair. While the date is now set from the 11th to the 16th this may be changed to some other date should it suit the convenience of the exhibitors and this fact will be determined later.

HOUSE OF GEORGE SHOOK WAS DAMAGED BY FIRE
Blaze Started in Rear of House by Child Playing With Matches—Damage Not Great.

The home of George Shook, 227 St. Mary's Avenue, was damaged by fire this afternoon, which was started by a child playing with matches. Scraw piled in the rear was ignited and the blaze was quickly communicated to the walls and roof. The fire department was summoned by telephone and responded quickly. Fire was laid from the corner of St. Mary's Avenue and Hickory street, but the first line strung out was cut in two by a train, the engineer paying no attention to the signal to stop. A hole was cut in the roof to get at the blaze between the roof and the ceiling of the second story. The fire was put out in a short time, both water and chemicals being used. Fire did not penetrate to the room furnishings which were damaged to some extent by water.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.
Geo. L. Hatch's dancing class and hop, Central hall, Wednesday evening, Oct. 9.

For Sale, at St. Joseph's Convent, a new set of Rosary beads, Medallions, Statues, Crucifixes and Prayer Books at reasonable prices.

The Best Concert Company, which is to appear at Christ Church Parish House Saturday evening, October 12th is the same company that delighted a large audience at the Milton College Gymnasium last week. That program was given in Friday's Gazette. Adv.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT COMING OCT. 12.
Christ Church Guilds have established the reputation of giving nothing but high grade entertainments. The Best Concert Company will enhance that reputation. The course consists of three companies, three artists in each company, traveling three weeks apart. Last year's tour extended from Chicago through large cities south, giving 400 concerts.

The young people in these companies are exceedingly attractive and take first rank in their different specialties. Among which the songs of all nations, the Jewel song from Faust, illustrated in beautiful costumes, are gems of art. Adv.

A Vain Effort.
"Why don't you take an interest in affairs?" said the offhand adviser. "Why don't you read the newspapers so that you can converse intelligently with your husband?" "I tried to," replied young Mrs. Torkins, "but I made a mistake. I read the president's message instead of the football news."

A Resolve.
"Not frequently or of necessity to say to anyone or to write in a letter that I have no leisure, nor continually to excuse the neglect of duties required by our relations to those with whom we live, by alleging urgent occupations."—Marcus Aurelius.

Delicious Home Made Pork Sausage

Our sausages are as different from factory made sausage as home cooking is different from other kinds.

These sausages are home made sausages and the care and cleanliness with which they are made, from an old fashioned German recipe we have used for many years has almost as much to do with their deliciousness as the tender little pigs whose choicest parts we use to make them of. The spices we use we grind ourselves so we know they are pure. Making only enough sausages each day for that day's orders guarantees their freshness.

In view of the fact that American bankers continue to import gold from London and the heavy demand for gold at that center from other quarters, it seems highly probable that the Bank of England will advance its discount rate the coming week. This is foreshadowed by the rates for money in the London open market. An advance in the Bank of England rate would no doubt result in the continuance of high rates in our market for the rest of this month. The United States Government officials now announce that there will be no deposit of government funds in the Western banks. Consequently no relief can be expected from that source. For this reason commercial and industrial business will have to be adjusted to the volume in money available with which to carry on business. Temporary high rates will curtail a tendency to overextension.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The principal factor in the stock market today is the confusion of mind caused by the irregularity in prices. It is strange how a half a cent's advance in prices has taken place, generates doubt among the holders of stocks. This uncertainty of mind itself causes selling of securities and consequently adds to the irregularity. However, it is such a small advance in prices which makes a firm foundation on which to continue an advance, because by the time the market is again under way the timid holder of securities has disposed of his stocks to more con-

ADVANCE FOR HOGS; DECLINE FOR SHEEP.

Hogs Have Steady Demand At Five Cent Increase In Price While Sheep Have Ten Cent Slump.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Hog receipts were not as large as expected this morning and prices were boosted five cents in consequence. The demand continued steady throughout the morning with several loads selling at $9.35, a new high mark for the year. Sheep started with another poor market, prices declining ten cents throughout the list. Cattle market was slow and steady. Quotations are as follows:

ELGIN BUTTER SELLS AT THIRTY CENTS TODAY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Elgin, Ill., Sept. 30.—Butter firm at 30 cents.

FRESH PARSNIPS ARE FOUND ON LOCAL MARKET TODAY.

Fresh parsnips are the feature of today's vegetable market; these are the finest to be found on the local market this season and they are very fine. They are selling for 3 cents a pound. The fresh pumpkins, which came on the market a short time ago are still very good and there is a heavy demand for them. They are retailing at 10 cents each. The squash which has

ident buyers who are willing to hold for higher prices. A waiting period is encountered now and then in all upward movements. Such a waiting period as a rule forecasts another advance of from 5 to 8 a share in the price of the actively dealt in stocks.

At the present time the stock market seems to be in exactly such a period as has been described. All indications point toward high prices. The only factor against prices is the rates which obtain for call money. Otherwise the temper of the country is most optimistic and there is greater commercial and industrial activity than we have experienced since the year 1906. The stock market outlook has not been so propitious for many months.

COLORADO FUEL & IRON.

A month ago Colorado Fuel and Iron Company was selling around 30 and the Preferred shares around 105. Present prices show an advance of 10 points in the common and over 20 for the preferred. This rapid advance has given rise to many rumors, most of which are unjustified. It is only natural that more or less credence should be given to extraordinary rumors regarding this company, inasmuch as it is controlled by George J. Gould and John D. Rockefeller.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company is not a large concern in respect to manufacturing capacity. The size of its capital stock and bonded indebtedness is apt to be misleading. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company has an outstanding bonded debt of $42,521,000. It is capitalized for $2,000,000. 8% Cumulative Preferred stock and $34,245,000 Common. During the past year, which has been a most favorable one in the iron trade, the company has been able to earn a fat surplus available for dividends on the Common stock as well as the Preferred, but in lean years the company barely earns its fixed interest charges. For instance in 1908, the surplus for dividends was but $294,366. The present high price for these shares is hardly justified by the status of the company.

been of such an excellent quality are getting to be very much better and there is a large demand for them. They are bringing 15 and 20 cents each. Of the fruit the Golden apples which came on the market some time ago are getting to be of a much better quality. They retail for 5 cents a pound. The Concord grapes which have had such a heavy run this season are not as plentiful as at first as there has been a very heavy demand for them. They sell for 18 and 20 cents each. Cucumbers are also very fine today and they are very plentiful. They sell for 20 cents a dozen.

FUMIGATED BUILDING FROM TOP TO BOTTOM

Health Officer Cunningham Completes Work at Jefferson School and Studies Are Resumed.

Health Officer Cunningham fumigated the Jefferson school building from top to bottom on Friday last and studies were resumed there this morning. The health officer has the following to say relative to the present cases of infantile paralysis now quarantined in the city:

The fact that our city has again been afflicted with a case of infantile paralysis, which has stricken terror to the hearts of many parents, is deplorable. This is the fifth case we have had this year, each one of which has been in parts of the city widely separated from others and thus in no way, so far as has been determined, can any one of them be contracted from the others.

The quarantine which has been for three weeks in each case, has been raised in the first three cases afflicted. The fact that the quarantine has been raised does not signify that there is absolute safety from the contagion. Brothers, sisters, and especially neighbors' children should not associate with the afflicted. It is true that the period of greatest danger is past. But in a lesser degree the virus may be present, gradually growing less for three more months.

Therefore, for three months the afflicted should be isolated from other children. School children thus afflicted should not go to school until the expiration of three months. It is a fact that a quarantine, no matter for what disease, isolates more than the afflicted. In some instances a whole family. I am satisfied that much of the quarantine to which our city is subjected might be avoided. How? In the first place no one having sickness in their home should allow outsiders to enter; at least not until the disease had been diagnosed by a competent physician. And second, where there is sickness, whether contagious or not, there is no time for entertaining company for the sick is thus deprived of much attention and needed care, and therefore no one should visit the sick for the sake of visiting.

But, if your neighbor, in sickness, needs help, by all means help them. Due precautions have been taken to prevent further cases of infantile paralysis. If all children and grown people, as well, will use some antiseptic throat and nasal spray several times daily it may be the means of preventing further spread of the disease. The bowels and other eliminative organs should receive proper attention.

For throat and nasal sprays, the following solutions may be used: Glycol-thymoline, listerine, borolyptol, iodo, or hydrogen peroxide.

DOYLE BEATS YERKES AS SECOND SACKER

Steve Yerkes.

Steve Yerkes, second sacker for the Red Sox, looks about as comforted with Larry Doyle, who holds down a like position with the Giants. But he isn't. He is a good, safe hitter, a good ground coverer, and in general, a good man around the sack. But he isn't a Doyle—a slashing slugger, a deadly man in a pinch—an aggressive, driving fighter who goes in headlong with a smash and who inspires the rest of his pals to travel with him.

AUGUSTINE THORP DIES AT EDGERTON

Father of Mrs. Edward Erickson of Janesville Passes Away Saturday Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Oct. 7.—Augustine Thorp passed away Saturday night at nine o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lipke in the third ward. Mr. Thorp was a native of Norway, born September 22, 1839, making him seventy-eight years of age September last. Married at his native home with six daughters born to them. Several of the daughters came to this country and some years thereafter the father and mother and the rest of the children came here. Death is incident to old age, although he has suffered intensely since last March. For the past six years the father and mother have made their home with their daughter, Mrs. Herman Lipke. Besides the widow six daughters survive him, he, Mrs. Ben Johnson of Beloit; Mrs. Bursdorf of Utica; Mrs. Erickson of Illinois; Mrs. Christopher and Mrs. Lipke of this city and Mrs. Edward Erickson of Janesville.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from the residence and at two-thirty at the Norwegian Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. J. L'Ancevoid. Interment will be made in the Jensen cemetery.

Serious Accident Sunday.

Sunday afternoon as Mrs. George Burnett and Mrs. Miller were driving down the Indian Ford hill the team they were driving became unruly and resulted in upsetting the rig. Mrs. Burnett received a dislocated shoulder and fractured limb and Mrs. Miller also received severe injuries. Two little girls from Emerald Grove were in the rig with them, and they also received injuries.

Your neighbor knows his Majestic Range uses little fuel—bakes perfect—has abundance of water good and hot and costs practically nothing for repairs. Let us show you why. Call during our demonstration week, Oct. 7th to 12th. Sheldon Hardware Co.

A Missouri Purist.

"I read a piece in the paper the other day," says Noah Count of Chigerville, "where they referred to the 'remains' of a man who was blown up by dynamite. Wouldn't 'remnants' have been a little more exact?"

Don't ask us to give you the $8.00 worth of ware with a Majestic Range after our demonstration week, as that special offer applied to that week only, Oct. 7th to 12th. Sheldon Hardware Co.

GROWTH OF SCHOOLS MOST INTERESTING

Government Offers Statistics For Consideration of General Public.

More than a million and a quarter boys and girls will attend the American high schools, public and private, during the school year 1912-13, according to the estimate of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education. Dr. Claxton has been assured by Mr. Alexander Summers, statistician of the Bureau, who has made a special study of the matter, that the estimate is a conservative one. Of the number given 1,000,000 are estimated for the public high schools, and 150,000 for the private secondary schools.

The American high school, has grown phenomenally in the past dozen years, its development in the last two or three years being apparently greater than in the remarkable decade just preceding. Since the twentieth century opened the number of public high schools has almost doubled and the number of students is easily twice what it was at the beginning of the century. The most cheering feature of the whole matter for the American citizen is the very great increase in the proportion of those who go from the grades into the high school.

Formerly (only a very few years ago) only a very few years ago, in fact, the high school was chiefly attended by children of the rich and, moderately well-to-do. Today nearly one fourth of the children who enter the elementary school eventually pass into the high school. The exact figure is 22 per cent, if negro children are included, and 25 per cent if whites only are considered. This is particularly significant, since certain critics of the public high schools have, through a misunderstanding of the official reports, contended that a much smaller percentage than is here given had the opportunity of high-school training. The fact remains that from 22 to 25 of every hundred children who enter the schools at all go into the high school.

TALKS TO STUDENTS ON "HOOSIER" POET

Prin. Buell Gives Brief Address On James Whitcomb Riley—Literary Society Meetings.

Opening exercises this morning at the High school were conducted by Prin. H. C. Buell. At present James Whitcomb Riley, the noted American poet from Indiana, and generally known as the "Hoosier" poet, is on his death bed at his home. Mr. Buell took the opportunity this morning to give a brief account of his life to the students and to read from a book several of Riley's favorite poems. In speaking of his ability as an orator, Mr. Buell emphasized the fact that at present Mr. Riley is the highest paid public speaker in the country. He delights in interesting children, and is a poet to common people in regard to common things. Such poems as were read this morning were, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin," and "The Fodder's in the Shock," and "Clover." One of "Little Orphan Annie." At present Mr. Riley is fifty-nine years of age, and his birthday is being celebrated throughout the country. The talk was very interesting to the student body.

Forum Program.
The Forum meeting tonight at the High school is given as follows: Roll call to be answered with an anecdote. The first topic will be given by Raymond Falter on "At the Bottom." Following this talk Roy Cannon will discuss "Marconi's Plans for the World." Stewart Mount will review the recent "Vanderbilt Races," after which Carl Schott will give the interesting topic, "How Death Lures the Birdman." The debate for the evening will be, Resolved, "That armed intervention is not justifiable on the part of any nation to collect on behalf of private individuals, financial claim against any American nation." Stewart and Ferguson will oppose Snyder and Frick.

The Rusk issued the following program, also to be given tonight. Roll call answered by a bright saying. The debate is, Resolved, that the United States Government should have the ownership of the railroads in this country. Kuhlow will give a short discussion on "Japan's late emperor and his successor." "Football Prospects for the Coming Year" will be given by Leslie Stewart. Dearborn will end the program by talking on "How Death Lures the Birdman."

Civil Cases Adjourned: The civil action brought by Minnie Elser against Henry Carhart for wages alleged to be due her, was this morning held open until Friday. Adjournment to Friday was also taken in the case of the Morris Company of Chicago against C. H. Kueck, a dispute over an account. Both cases were set for hearing in Justice Charles H. Lange's court.

Today nearly one fourth of the children who enter the elementary school eventually pass into the high school. The exact figure is 22 per cent, if negro children are included, and 25 per cent if whites only are considered. This is particularly significant, since certain critics of the public high schools have, through a misunderstanding of the official reports, contended that a much smaller percentage than is here given had the opportunity of high-school training. The fact remains that from 22 to 25 of every hundred children who enter the schools at all go into the high school.

Steel Ranges For Wood Or Coal

BODY of range and high closet is Wellsville Polished Steel, the best material and which keeps its color without blacking.

FLUES are ample in size, lined with asbestos, with back flue of cast iron, proof against jamming or sticking.

OVEN is the famous one-sheet kind, of heavy cold rolled steel. Our ovens are the tightest and most rigid and are proof against warping. Oven is heated evenly, making all parts available for baking.

FIREBOX is a special feature. Lined with cast blocks to give great durability a perfect duplex grate, anti-clinker front lining for convenience in cleaning fire and all parts proportioned and fitted to give perfect combustion, makes this range unequalled for economy in fuel.

Reservoir The Copper Contact Kind

OTHER FEATURES—Large top surface with reinforced covers and centers; one sectional ring cover; latest cleaning and lighting attachment; large pouch feed; ideal wood firebox; oven door balance spring on outside, convenient for adjusting; large clean-out opening in front for convenience; large and strong teapot holders and cast iron closet supports. The Stewart double system of dampers gives absolute fire control and assures perfect results. The loose nickel edge bands are a great convenience.

REGAL STEWART RANGE has the standard steel range form with square front end and steel floor-base or nickel base on legs.

THE BABY DOLL LADY.
WE call her the baby doll lady because that is her pose. She is at least twenty—we are inclined to make it nearer thirty—but apparently not conscious of the fact. For she wears funny little gingham frocks that would look young on a girl in her teens; she has a head that almost any mother would order her sixteen-year-old daughter to have for a similar display of legs; and she actually appeared last night with a straw hat with an elastic on it. Nor is her manner any means out of harmony with her clothes. To hear her gleeful laughter, to see her clap her hands in delight and jump up and down when anything pleases her, to watch her pirouetting about in her bathing suit, to see her water, to see her pout when she is teased, you would say that she was not more than sixteen at the most.

which she would certainly be vastly pleased, for this just exactly what she wants you to say. Now if there is anything I love, it is a man or woman who is still young despite the passing of the years who can still enjoy the sports and games of youth, who can still feel the enthusiasm of youth, who can still keep the childlike heart somewhere within them, even though "daily farther from that they still must travel." And yet, if there is any woman in our town that I secretly near to disliking, it's the baby doll lady. Not at all. In the same proportion that anything is beautiful, its cheap imitation is likely to be hideous so it always seems to me that that girl's pose is an insult to real youth. I have known grown women who really laughed with almost childlike glee when they were really delighted but they didn't know that it sounded that way. "Girl does." You can fancy that she is saying to herself, "Now I am going with childlike glee." "Now I look like a little bit of a girl who is so of the water," etc., etc. Let me tell you something. When you do anything and think to yourself as you do it, "I look or sound like this or that," beware—you are posing, and at least a quarter of your audience knows that you are posing, and instead of being either amused or disgusted. The baby doll lady is the joke of the town. The neighborhood mimic is always applauded when she reproduces her childlike laughter or her posing, and her absurdity pointed out as a bad example to all young girls. And all the time a clever enough and pretty enough to be a popular girl if she only would. Don't pose. It is pay. Nobody loves a poseur—at least not for very long. And if you know when you are doing it, just use my test—you are posing when you have a sub-conscious eye on the effect you are creating.

doing all her good work. Obey your mother, my dear. She knows best.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am forty, never was married, and am in love with a bachelor who has lots of money. How can I draw his attention? HANDSOME.

Invite him to your home, give him good meals and make him so comfortable that he would like to stay there forever. A bachelor with money is hard to convince however.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am in love with a young man three years my junior. I tried not to, but could not help it. He does things I don't like, but he is nice to me. (2)—What is a good for fine, oily hair? LILLIAN B.

(1) Three years do not make much difference. If he is all right and wants to marry you, take him and be happy. (2) Give it a good egg shampoo every two weeks or so.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I have two tan ostrich hands which are soiled, and some tan velvet. Can you tell me how to clean them? (2)—Is whole wheat bread a cure for constipation? (3)—Is there harm in using a gold ring to clean the face in taking out blackheads? (4)—Does talcum powder cause blackheads? Is face powder better? What is a harmless face powder that will stay on long? ANXIOUS.

(1)—Gasoline may be used, but you will have better results by sending them to professional cleaner and it will not cost much. (2)—Not particularly. It is a good health bread, however. (3)—Not if the ring is kept clean, though it is apt to bruise a tender skin. (4)—Talcum should not be used for the face. Good face powder costs about 50 cents. Be sure and get one that does not contain bismuth, as bismuth makes blackheads. Before applying the powder, have the face and neck scrupulously clean, then massage into the skin a tiny bit of cold cream. When the skin feels just a little sticky with the cream, put on the powder lightly, with a lamb's wool puff. By doing this the powder will stay on all day.

To those who ask me for Halloween games, I must reply that there is not space in this department to describe them, especially when there are so many personal problems waiting to be considered. I think you will find that every bookstore has a number of books of games including many suitable for Halloween.

WHEN the night begins within a man's worth something. An engine of one catpower, running all the time, is more effective than one of forty horsepower, standing still. —George William Curtis.

SOMETHING TO TRY.

The majority of cooks look with askance upon dishes prepared from calves' brains. Calves' brains are really a great delicacy, have the flavor of oysters and should be cooked while fresh, as they spoil quickly. Remove the fiber and lay the brains in salted water to simmer for twenty minutes; take out and cover with cold water, which will whiten them and make them firm, if a teaspoonful of vinegar is added. Lay on a cloth and pat gently to dry, then cut into half-inch slices. Put two tablespoonsful of butter and half a tablespoonful of lard into a hot pan, dust the brains with salt and pepper and brown quickly on both sides, being careful not to break while turning. Serve with slices of lemon.

Scallop of Roast Pork and Cabbage.—Place a layer of thinly-sliced roast pork, two cups of pork, a cup and a half of cooked cabbage and a cup and a half of white sauce, arranged in layers. Heat in the oven until the sauce bubbles.

Frozen Dessert.—To the pulp of three bananas put through a sieve, add the juice of three oranges, three lemons and three cups of water cooked together with three cups of sugar; cool and freeze. When half frozen, add a cup of whipped cream.

Fresh Pork With Apples.—Mince remnants of cold roast pork to make two cupfuls, season and moisten with a few spoonfuls of gravy. Wash half a dozen greening apples and core carefully, leaving a cup to hold the meat. Place a small piece of butter on each and bake. Serve for a luncheon dish.

Baked Corn.—A cup of corn cooked and cut from the cob, add a beaten egg, a cup of milk, a chopped green pepper; sprinkle with buttered crumbs and brown. Serve very hot.

Corn in Tomato Cups.—Salt the inside of tomatoes that have been hollowed out, fill with stewed corn seasoned well with butter and grated cheese, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until the tomatoes are tender, but not broken.

Oatmeal Bread.—Add a cup of cooked oatmeal to a cup of bread sponge, a half cup of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of shortening, a teaspoon of salt and a half cup of seedless raisins. Mix as stiff as possible with a spoon.

A Marriageable Salary

TOM was thinking and figuring. "Seems to me twenty dollars a week ought to be enough to get married on. Lots of folks get married on less."

"Suppose I put down five dollars a week for rent. I know I can get a fairly nice house for twenty dollars a month."

"To be sure," he mused, "it isn't what Helen's been used to. That home of hers is pretty big and it's got a good-sized yard. And these twenty dollar houses are small and all in a row. I wonder if she'd mind?"

He sat lost in thought for a few minutes. "Well, I'll say twenty dollars for rent. Then I'll put down ten dollars a week for running the house. I don't know much about it. But seems to me that ought to be enough. I wonder if Helen knows anything about housekeeping? They have a maid. And her mother always seems to be on the housekeeping job. Still, boarding's awful. And we couldn't board decently on my salary, anyway."

He sat for a very long time lost in thought. "I wonder just how much she does know about housekeeping," he finally commented. "But I'll take a chance."

"That leaves us five dollars a week to dress on and for my carfare and lunches and—the theatre and such things once in a while."

He looked blank.

"By Jinks, I'll have to work out on a different line from this. Why I spend five dollars a week now. I suppose I could cut down on cigars. It costs a woman a lot to dress."

He sat a still longer time lost in thought.

"I wonder if I could get a raise," at last he said to himself. "Seems to me the old man ought to raise me, especially if I tell him I'm going to get married. Still, I don't want a raise as a charity. If I'm worth a raise, I'm worth it, married or single."

"And I wonder just how permanent my job is," he mused on. "I never thought an awful lot about that. But by Jinks, if you'd lose your job after you're married, it would be pretty serious. That's what happened to Wilkins. And he was striking all his friends and relatives for loans for months, till he got another position. And he isn't out of the hole yet."

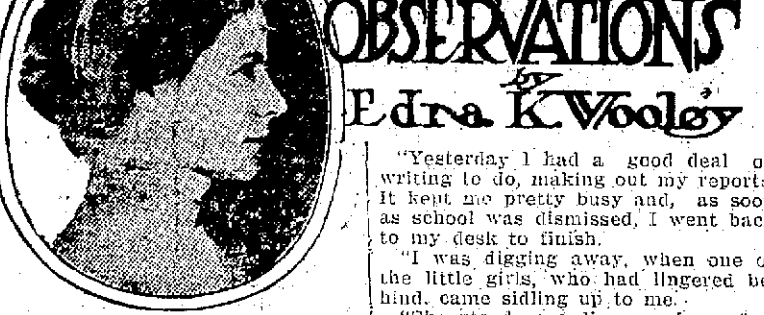

He sat looking at the figures on the paper in his hand.

"And suppose a fellow gets sick, or Helen gets sick?"

"By Jinks, if I sit here thinking of all these things, I'll be in a blue funk. Still twenty dollars a week is a mighty slim margin. I guess," he said, laying the paper down, "I won't put the fatal question yet awhile."

But there was a tense look about his mouth and his customary happy expression faded from his face.

"By Jinks," he said, as he put the cigar he was about to light back in the box, "falling in love is one thing, and getting married is another."

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS Edna K. Woolley

SOME DIFFERENCE, REALLY!
 "Marriage is only a business," said the man who ought to have known better than to talk that way to a young business woman—even though the young business woman had an innocent cast of countenance.

"It ought to be conducted like a business," he went on, "and when the parties to it find they can't get along comfortably for any reason, or simply wish to sever relations, they should have the right to quit without going through all this divorce foolery."

"I believe in trial marriage. It's the only thing. This idea of being hitched for life is the very thing that makes a man want to cut loose. Any way, it isn't fair. Suppose he finds he's made a mistake? He ought to be at liberty to remedy it in marriage just as in every other walk of life."

"Anyway, just because a minister or a justice of the peace says a few words over a man and a woman, it doesn't make a real marriage. When a man and a woman love each other it is as real a marriage as any that's blessed by a minister or sanctioned by the law. When they stop loving each other the marriage should be at an end. Of course the present divorce system just about accomplishes that, but it's an inconvenience to have to go to court about it and go through all the necessary incidents."

"To come right down to facts, as I said at first, marriage as it is conducted today is nothing but a business. You've got to buy a license and fee the justice or the priest. That's the only difference between a legal marriage and the love or trial marriage entered into without the law's aid."

"I see two other differences," opined the young business woman, who had been getting madder and madder as the monologue progressed. "And what may they be?" inquired the man—who is enjoying his fourth wife, by the way, and is already tired of her.

DIDN'T MEAN IT THAT WAY.
 "The kiddies do say the quaintest things sometimes," said the teacher of a kindergarten class in one of the foreign districts.

"They hear words and expressions that are brand-new to them, and they try to use them in their speech, but sometimes they get woefully mixed."

Optimism.
 Pessimism, reaching an Eden, begins to listen for the hiss of the serpent; optimism, hearing the sibilant serpentine greeting, looks about for an appropriate Edenic setting.—Kansas City Post.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
 Food Specialist

OVERFEEDING CAUSES COLDS.

"The common cold is a privilege enjoyed almost wholly by civilized man," says the Medical Times. Superheated rooms, keeping out fresh air, especially from the bedroom, improper clothing and improper feeding, with the germ as the transmitter from one favorable soil to another, are the causes given for the popular ailment of civilization. Both overeating and eating the wrong kinds of food are enormous factors in catarrh production. "He who over-eats," says the editor quoted, "is likely to catch cold," and his cold is likely to become chronic." This agrees with the statement in a recent Hint that a cold is caught at the dining table, making due allowance for the minor factors. "To maintain a healthy action of the skin is a prime condition in the avoidance of colds, and the best way to do this is to take a warm bath once a week and a cold 'towel bath,' rubbing the skin thoroughly, every morning, carefully avoiding undue chilling, especially in beginning the practice."

FOR A BAD STOMACH PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time! In five minutes you will wonder what became of the Gas, Sourness and Indigestion.

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia, when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes such misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It's the quickest, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is a scientific, harmless and pleasant preparation which truly belongs in every home. Adv.

GIVES A PLAIN TALK ON VICE CONDITIONS

REV. T. D. WILLIAMS REVIEWS RECENT JANESVILLE TRAGEDIES IN ADDRESS LAST NIGHT.

CHURCHES AT FAULT?

Pastor Asks If Institutions Have Developed Into Saloon-Protective Associations—Outlines Remedies.

Rev. T. D. Williams gave a firm, outspoken address on the subject, "The Recent Tragedies in Janesville," at the evening service at the Carville M. T. church last evening. He did not hesitate to place the blame for the vice conditions in Janesville at the proper sources and he indicated means for betterment.

In beginning his address Rev. Williams said he was treating a matter for which he would receive no thanks and what he would have to say gain him much unpopularity. He believed it the duty of the pulpit, however, to treat such conditions and to discuss them plainly and if ministers failed in this, they neglected their work. He spoke in part as follows:

"Janesville has been heralded to the four winds, the last few weeks through its vice and crime conditions. I would not take a Sunday evening to open these sores if I were not persuaded that a part of a preacher's function is to identify evils and give some of the distinctive marks of evil spirits.

What have we in Janesville?

1. Criminal idleness.
2. Lawless vendors in intoxicating liquors.
3. Vicious drunkenness.
4. Sabbath desecration.
5. Highway robbery.
6. Suicide.
7. Murder.
8. Vice of the darkest hue.
9. And no stopping of the machinery of hell while the victims are being buried.

I cannot in half an hour photograph all these monsters but they lurk in dark corners of our city and ready at any moment to pounce upon the innocent and fill up the carry-all that is headed to hell—you have heard their hideous cry.

You have seen their glaring eyes. You have traced their footprints to the threshold of the home and you have seen the bodies of the slain carried to the Potter's Field.

You have seen the lights and heard the sounds of the Carnival.

You have wept over the sacrifice of life.

You have asked—why this procession to death? And tonight we sit dumb and confused in the presence of what is going on in our city.

"We are certain of one thing. God does not endorse it. From three memorial God has advertised two paths from cradle to the grave. From birth to death, on one path—poverty, suffering, penury, drunkenness, crime, woe, broken hearts, disgraced graves. The way of transgressors is hard."

The way of transgressors is hard."

Sermon, P. 13.—1. Jezebel. 2. Judas. 3. Benedict Arnold. 4. Napoleon. 5. Will Evans—6, Geo. Howett.

Here Rev. Williams pointed to the lives of Jezebel, Judas, Benedict Arnold and Napoleon by way of illustration. Continuing he said:

"The other path—plenty, peace, joy, service, happy death, honored grave. The Path of the Just.

Multitudes in this city have chosen to take the path of death walking with the proud and blasphemers and reverent, skeptics and murderers and drunkards and suicides and murderers and men and women who die in torment. And "The Wages of Sin is Death."

"And the city for a few paltry dollars furnishes all these pitfalls and we hear no groan of remorse over the slaughter of life and character.

"Have you heard of the city erecting a mourner's bench to repent for its sin?

"Have you heard of the authorities calling a prayer meeting to ask God for guidance in fixing up the machinery of the city?

"Did you ever hear of a pastor or evangelist getting a letter of commendation for taking a bold stand against vice and crime conditions?

"Did you ever hear of the city council calling a meeting of the fathers to discuss boy protection?

"Did you ever hear of the city calling a meeting of the mothers to talk over the danger of the girl getting entangled in the snares of death?"

"All that I have mentioned tonight is going on in our city. We know it. They know it. Why in the name of the city's reputation, say nothing of character integrity, do we allow these things to go on?

"What has happened? (a) Man came and after sorting and speering, committed suicide and his body pressed up against a woman's screen door all night. (b) Man drunk fell from a three-story porch. (c) Drunks, filling the city jail and Judge kept busy disposing of them. (d) Tragedy of last week—end is not yet.

"What can we do to check the epidemic of vice and crime? Mothers can pray. I have great confidence in the efforts of women when they are desperately in earnest. The Shunammite woman when she found her child was dead summoned a servant and mule and did not stop till she reported her heartache to Elshah at Mount Carmel—and her pleading brought him to her home and then the restoration of her son. The woman of the New Testament pressed her way through the crowd and did not stop till she touched the hem of the Master's garment.

"In 1873-4 the women of Ohio organized the Woman's Crusade which attracted universal attention. In Hillsborough, O., the liquor trade was his deadly work. At a public meeting Dr. Dio Lewis of Boston, told how a drunkard's wife forty years ago after long and fervent prayer gathered a band of christian women and waited upon the liquor dealers imploring him to give up his dreadful business and how their prayers were answered. The next day seventy-five christian women led by Mrs. E. J. Thompson, daughter of Ex-governor Thibble began a systematic visitation of the drug-stores, hotels and saloons of Hillsborough and continued it till victory crowned their efforts. In eight days all the saloons were closed. The movement spread from town to town and into other states closing thousands of saloons and reclaiming thousands of inebriates.

"If 60 women of each church in this city would call a prayer meeting and after prayer say to the pastor, you come and be our spokesman at the city council and our leader in our saloon prayer meetings, and insist on it, every pastor would say 'Yes' or resign his job.

"If anybody is interested in the boy it is the mother who bore him and reared him to youth and manhood. We need some desperate women in Janesville. If the father like the rooster in the hen and hawk story wants to run under the corner crib to hide his eyes, he'll come out at meal time.

"Men can vote and pray. You know the power of the ballot. Why are they fighting over campaign funds? They are afraid the other party will get more votes. Why are Taft and Wilson and Roosevelt and Chafin and Debs tramping over the country talking and imploring and weeping over the people? They are after votes. They call it a campaign of education. If they are so philanthropic why not go after election? Oh, no—they are after votes. They know votes count.

"If we had 1500 votes in this city pledged and put into the ballot box on election day against the iniquities of our city and for men who stand for a clean city—these drunks and drunkard factories would give way to decency and our city's good name would be considered and our boys and girls would have a chance.

"What is the ballot for? To put the other fellow in office. His eternal life does not depend on getting into office. He may lose it by getting into office. We confer no favor on some men by putting them in office.

"What is the ballot for? To wield in the interests of public welfare. And nothing so touches the welfare of the public as a chance to develop morals. The churches can shout the anathemas of God upon sin and sinners. If the prophets of Israel were anything at all they were civic reformers. Some of them were thrown into jail. Some of them lodged with lions but there was not a civic iniquity that did not call forth the wrath of the prophets. When John the Baptist found Herod the King living with his brother's wife—he gave him some practical theology. I mean by that God's law. No statute of man is legal that is contrary to God's law.

"The churches of this city might get some John the Baptist spirit. Some of Daniel heroism. The powers of darkness would howl and groan and threaten, but 'God is our refuge.' If they drive us to a cave God has ravens to feed us.

"The churches of this city could chase every saloon in it. If the churches are tied hand and foot by a lot of beer drinkers—let us give up calling them churches, but saloon-aid societies.

"The authorities could administer the law. We'll not discuss this at length—I presume they are not here so we must not waste our breath. But so much depends on faithful administration of city affairs. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. We might bring some pressure to bear and it would bear fruitage.

"Some new ordinance would be in order. All boys should be home at night. I saw crowds on the streets at midnight. If those two boys had been home and in bed at midnight, where they belonged they would not be in jail tonight waiting their trial for murder.

"All girls should be off the streets at an early hour. Girls are tramping the path of death too. Fathers should be home with their families at night. It is criminal, the things operating in Janesville, to call men out at night and late hours at night.

"Mothers could save up some of their wages and make a party. Many must dance to be grateful, they say. And there is where a lot of this delinquency begins.

"What shall I say more? If we had the time we would go still deeper and insist on it.

"More devout recognition of God. More respect for the Sabbath. More earnest searching of God's word. Thy word is a lamp, etc. Thy word have I hid in my heart, etc.

"The law of the Lord is perfect."

"When men love God they will hate and shun sin. We need in this city a revival of godliness. A tidal wave of righteousness. A sense of the baptism of the Holy Ghost, 'renewing the city of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come.'

"Men and women all over this city have lost out because of sin, their only recovery is in God. We are here to help them."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE KICKER.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

As a rule, man's a fool. When it's hot he wants it cool. When it's cool he wants it hot. Always wanting what is not. As a rule, man's a fool.

A person who wouldn't be satisfied in Heaven, unless he could regulate the climate and lead the band.

Some people never kick except at epochal periods. Like house-cleaning time, while other start before breakfast, and kick on everything from the texture of the pancakes to the way their bed is made up.

It is impossible to please the kicker who is impelled by a high sense of duty and a dark yellow grouch. This kind always wants a soapstone in his bed, on cold nights, and if he burns his feet on it he will declare it was slipped in between the sheets when he wasn't looking.

It is an established historical fact that William Cullen Bryant wrote 'the melancholy days have come' immediately after he had paved several bushels of autumn leaves out of the eavespout with a whisk broom.

The kicker never admits that there will be more than one-third of a corn crop until, along about Christmas time. If the new minister chooses a text from II Kings, he will wonder why our preachers can't get out of the Old Testament once a year. If the sermon introduces an original thought or two, he will sigh for the old-fashioned preaching which you could follow without a guide book or a set of Emerson's Essays.

The kicker is at his best during the summer solstice. He is then able to kick in long, sustained, high notes about the warm weather, and every change in temperature causes him to let go of a sour cackle. During the cold weather, he is prepared to show that the heavy winter of 1887 was a hot wave compared with what is just ahead.

The kicker teaches us that some people are never truly happy until they have made everybody about them miserable.

ROCK PRAIRIE

Rock Prairie, Oct. 7.—Miss Fannie McKellips and Mr. Glenn Austin were married last Wednesday in Rockford. They have gone on a short wedding trip to Chicago.

Miss Anna Post of Chicago is visiting at the home of J. R. Hadden. Mr. and Mrs. Ray and Harry Josephine and Joseph Cook, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. John Clark for the past week, have gone to their new home in Janesville. Mr. Rod of California is being entertained at the home of J. Z. Mc-

Lay. Silo filling and corn cutting are now occupying the time of the farmers.

Mrs. Dickson accompanied by her brother, has returned from a month's visit in Illinois.

Austin Sanders was unfortunate in having his arm broken last Wednesday.

ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

Town Line, Beloit and Rock, Oct. 5.—Frank C. Eddy of the Junior class of the Beloit High school entertained fifty of the members of his class at his home in the town of Beloit Friday evening, Oct. 4. Games were played and all spent a most pleasant evening. The chaperones were Mr. Wickham, Mr. Rizer and the Misses Buckeridge and Kent of the faculty. After refreshments had been served the young people found that before they would be able to make the return trip, which was made in hayracks, they would be obliged to find a neck yoke and a lantern which it is supposed some mischievous member of another class had hidden. After more than half an hour's search the neck yoke was found stung on end with the lantern hanging on it, burning dimly. It was merry party which took its departure at 12:30 o'clock assuring its that a most enjoyable evening had been spent.

R Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer.

Pure beer is food and tonic.

G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that

"beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles.

We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

The Chronicles of Addington Peace

By B. FLETCHER ROBINSON
 Co-Author with A. Conn Doyle of 'The Hound of the Baskervilles'

"As hard and keen and clever as a lad of 21 was Thomas Hearne. It was he who spent the day in Plymouth, returning with a wig and long overcoat that might temporarily conceal the convict's identity until he could change his yellow prison uniform for the clothes I had already bought; it was he who gathered to himself all the weather lore of the village until he had become a better prophet than the wisest veteran of the moors. Two fogs we had, but during the first the convicts were kept within the walls; while before the other caught them the warders had time to rush the gangs back to their cells. Yet Hearne never lost temper at these delays, cheering me back into patience with the strength of his own certainty.

"Don't you worry, Kingsley," he would say, "what is fated to happen cannot be prevented, and Providence will see to it that Julius Craig comes to us soon."

His affection for the convict seemed to all his life. No risk, no labor was too heavy; no storm would drive him from his post. Often when I smoked by the inn fire he was crouching patiently amongst the rocks on the cliff hill, as if it were his only son for whom he waited. There was something inhuman in his merciless self-sacrifice; but I had no reason to complain, for it lightened the burden on my shoulders.

It was at three o'clock on Tuesday, May 9, that Julius Craig escaped. Poor devil! if he had but known! Hearne and I had quarreled that morning over the fog question. Perhaps both our tempers were wearing thin, but that was no excuse for his dropping from argument to insults. I dare say he thought my language just as bad; but that didn't make the trouble any lighter. There was fog in the air, he said, though even the landlord laughed at the idea when I put the question to him. Finally the old man walked off in a huff, though I had so far given way as to promise that I would bring the cart to the ruins by lunch time.

I stalked about the inn until the papers came from Plymouth. When I had finished reading them it was nine o'clock. A leg of lamb was cooking in the kitchen. Just because Hearne preferred cold ham sandwiches or a draught of beer there was no reason why I should not have my meal in comfort. I would lunch before I started, and he could wait for his sandwiches.

It was a selfish thing to do, but he had irritated me that morning more than I now can understand. I was finishing off with cheese, when the landlord thrust his head through the door of my sitting room.

"I gave a fool's wisdom this morning, sir," he said. "The fog be blowing up proper from the eastward. I'm feared that Mr. Hearne—"

He got no further, for I was past him like a flash and out into the open. The moors had gone; utterly vanished away. In their place there lay a blanket of billowy white that sent wild streamers upwards to the flying veil of clouds. Only a quarter mile of the main road was visible, and up it the first wave of the misty inundation was marching like a lofty wall. I ran toward the stable, cursing myself in my mad disappointment.

I galloped for 200 yards, and then the fog gathered me to itself, and I had just enough sense to pull the horse to a slow trot.

I could still see the road for a dozen paces, but all sense of proportion and distance had gone from me. The fog was not stationary, but curled in broad confusing wreaths, or poured sideways upon me in avalanches of denser mist. Sometimes the car was on the road, sometimes off it. Twice I nearly capsized. In the end I climbed down and went to the horse's head, leading it forward at the run. I made better progress after that.

Yet I was not more than half way to the cairn hill when from the whirling shadows to my left there came a sound that set my heart leaping in it were galloping hoofs that he heard. He was an ill-tempered, petulant man, and I did not waste either politeness or sympathy upon him. It was not until we had passed over some miles of rolling uplands and dropped down a steep descent to a moss-grown bridge, that the fog showed signs of breaking. As we strained up the opposite hill it began to tear away in flying wisps like the smoke of great guns, giving us glimpses of a narrow slope of turf ending in a cliff, at the foot of which an unseen river moaned and chuckled.

"I helped you loyally—you have no complaint against me?" asked old Hearne, tapping me suddenly on the shoulder.

"I could never wish a better comrade," I told him.

"That is how I hope you will always think of me."

He was not a kind of man to talk sentiment, and I glanced back in surprise. There was an expression of peace upon him, such as I have never seen in a human countenance, either before or since. He smiled, and, reaching over, gave my hand a squeeze.

"You have the making of a good fellow in you," he said. "May the fates forget your follies."

We drove on in silence for awhile, and then the old man rose, kneeling upon the cushions of the back seat.

"Here comes the sun, Julius Craig," he said. "The mists are scattering, and the world comes peeping through to welcome you back to freedom."

Women and wine and cards—does the old spirit stir within you?"

"And who the devil may you be?" asked the convict, turning upon him.

"Have five years changed me so much? Perhaps my beard is whiter than it was the night you fled with her to the yacht in Cadiz bay."

The convict gave a mingled cry, like a beast in pain, shrinking back, with his face one gray mask of fear.

"Not Mortimer?" he whispered. "It can't be Mortimer. He died."

"You are quite mistaken," said Hearne politely.

It all happened very swiftly—in one long breath or so, it seemed to me. Craig sprang from his seat and ran wildly down the slope; but the old man was not five yards behind him. I believe that the convict had the pace of him, but the cliff turned Craig to the right, and the next moment they had closed, and hung, swaying upon the edge.

The flicker of a knife, a shrill, piping cry, and they were gone.

I was alone in the great silence, save for the faint murmurs of the stream as it fought the rocks below.

It took me ten minutes and more to reach them, for I had to skirt the cliff until a slide of granite boulders gave me a path to the bottom. Craig was dead; the knife had done its work; but the old man was alive, though his gray blue eyes were glazing fast. He recognized me, and smiled very faintly. I raised his head upon my arm and wiped his wrinkled face with my handkerchief.

"Is he dead?"

"Yes," I told him.

"I was manager of a mine in Spain," he whispered. "My daughter—she took her to his yacht—she died in London."

There was no vengeance in his face now; he faltered on as simply as a little child.

"Long search—found he was in prison—came to kill him. I met you—to help him escape seemed a better way. Then he would know why he had to die—if I had shot him over hedge he would—never have understood—sorry for you—had to do my duty—by him."

His head fell back with a long sigh, so that I thought all was over; but presently he rallied again, in the last blind effort at life which even a man with a broken back will make.

"Not a sin, Mary dear," he called. "How can they tell you it was murder when they know—"

He finished his explanation in another world.

That is about all I need tell you. I found the horse grazing by the roadside and drove to Ashburton with no great care, whether they caught me or not. Yet I was back in London before they found the bodies.

So ended the story of John Henderson, as Inspector Peace told it to me.

He had broken several sorts of laws," I suggested. "When he recovered didn't you—"

"No, I didn't," said the inspector, firmly. "I let him go free—and without straining my conscience, either."

THE VANISHED MILLIONAIRE

I stood with my back to the fire, smoking and puzzling over it. It was worth all the headlines the newspapers had given it; there was no loop-hole to the mystery.

Both sides of the Atlantic knew Silas J. Ford. He had established a business reputation in America that had made him a celebrity in England from the day he stepped off the liner.

Once in London his syndicates and companies and consolidations had started the slow-moving British mind.

The commercial sky of the United Kingdom was overshadowed by him and his schemes. The papers were full of praise and blame, of puffs and denunciations. He was, a millionaire; he was on the verge of a smash that would paralyze the markets of the world. He was an abstainer, a drunkard, a gambler, a most religious man. He was a confirmed bachelor, a woman hater; his engagement was to be announced shortly. So was the gossip kept rolling with the limelight always centered upon the spot where Silas J. Ford happened to be standing.

And now he had disappeared, vanished, evaporated.

On the night of December 18, a Thursday, he had left London for Mendon hall, the fine old Hampshire mansion that he had rented from Lord Beverly. The two most trusted men in his office accompanied him. Friday morning he had spent with them; but at three o'clock the pair had returned to London, leaving their chief behind.

From four to seven he had been shut up with his secretary. It was a hard time for every one, a time verging upon panic, and at such times Silas J. Ford was not an idle man.

Ingenuous Dumb Creatures.

A naturalist, who has been studying the constructive instinct in birds and animals, finds them almost as ingenious as man. The beaver not only burrows, but also builds a hut of sticks and plasters the structure with mud by means of its fat tail. The tail also serves as a store for fat to tide the animal over the winter. The flamingo builds a nest of mud. Harvest mice make a spherical nest of grass.

Sailing Vessels Coming Back.

Sailing vessels are coming into vogue again, especially within the last five years, after having been practically banished from the ocean by the quicker and more easily controlled steamships.

DINNER STORIES

A novelist whose sales do not correspond with the lofty nature of the reviews his books usually get was walking on Broadway when there glided past the motor-car of a publisher who had brought out, at a heavy loss, one of the author's books. Stopping his car, the publisher said: "There's a big manuscript nearly falling out of your overcoat. You might have had your pocket picked—if you were not so well known."

At a ball in the Balkans a guest complained to the host, a divine, that another guest, a judge, had stolen his watch. "Which judge was it?" the divine asked, frowning. The guest pointed out a distinguished-looking jurist with gray hair, and, an hour or so later, the divine returned his watch to him. Thrusting it back into his pocket with a contented sigh, the guest asked: "And what did the judge have to say for himself?" "Ssh!" said the divine. "He doesn't know I've got it back yet."

In the big Weberfelds' dressing room for Weber and George Beban sat tense over a game of checkers. "I'm working him up to his part," murmured Mr. Weber, in a kind voice. "He must go on the stage in a tantrum in a few minutes. Every night I beat him a game of checkers in here before his entrance. It has just the right effect on him."

"Every night you don't beat me!" cried his opponent. "I owe you $1.90 in twelve weeks. Is that much?" "Not so much, but I'd be glad to bet it," suggested the sweet-voiced Weber.

Louis Hill and a party of officials were taking a peek at the station agents somewhere along the line in Minnesota. At a station we may call Oseville, an agent, perhaps forewarned, was observed frantically moving trucks and "cleaning up."

"There's a hustler for you," said one of the party. "Humph," said Hill. At another station the agent met them smiling, smoking a good cigar, and clad in his best clothes. He was frankly idling, yet nothing was asked. "Well, what do you think of that?" commented one of Hill's friends. "There's an agent who has time to loaf." "Humph," said Hill. A month later the "loaf" said Hill was promoted. "If a man can get the work done without doing it himself, he's the man for me," was the explanation of the railroad president.

"There's a certain politician gallivanting about the country just now," said a dyed-in-the-wool Taft man at the customs house, "who reminds me of an old negro who used to work for my father. He's bound to be boss."

"Old Ike was given a job one day by father cutting up some wood in the back yard. Dad gave like a quarter to do it. Later in the day he went out and found the old negro sitting on a stick and directing the work of another black, who was industriously cutting and sawing."

"Why, Ike," remarked dad, "didn't I pay you to do this work?"

No More Constipation

It's Me for Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

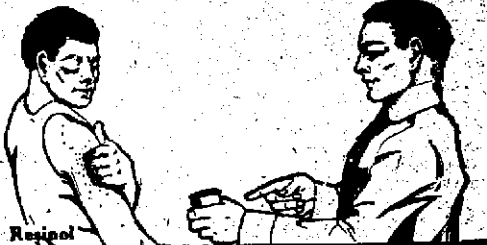

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired, feeling—sick headache—(triple liver) and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're repeatedly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them. "Every little Olive Tablet" has a movement all its own. 10c and 25c per box.

Resinol will heal your itching skin

RESINOL Ointment and Resinol Soap stop itching instantly, quickly and easily heal the most distressing cases of eczema, salt-rheum, rash, ringworm, tetter or other eruption, and clear away pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, when other treatments have proven only a waste of time and money.

Trial free Resinol Ointment, with Resinol Soap, is also an ideal household remedy for such common troubles as dandruff, sores, boils, abscesses, burns, scalds, cuts, chafings, and bites. Your druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c) and Resinol Ointment (50c and $1), but for a sample of each, write to Dept. 4-B, Resinol Co., Co., Baltimore, Md. Resinol Shaving Stick (50c) cannot irritate the tenderest face. Sample free.

TOLEDO, O., July 20, 1912.

"I had a very bad case of eczema, for over fifteen years, and tried everything that was suggested to me without any relief. I used to suffer from itching, and used to scratch until the blood came. On my legs, wrists and face the skin would crack open and bleed, and would pain me awfully; that is all over now, since I have Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. Five minutes after I applied Resinol Ointment the pain and itching would leave me. After using less than two jars of Resinol Ointment, I must honestly say I am cured, and I never think of eczema unless someone asks me about it. It always makes me feel good to tell people about Resinol. I know they will get relief and a cure."

JUST A QUESTION NO. 13.

WHAT'S THE GREATEST FEAT OF EATING?

ANSWER TO NO. 12—ONE BREAKS PEOPLE'S HEADS THE OTHER BREAKS THEIR HEARTS.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet PhilosopherCopyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

I sit beneath my greenwood tree
and watch the girls go by, a-chewing gum with ecstasy and ardor in each eye; they chew their gum as though they knew that every bit of gum they chew will take them nearer to the blue, and angel-haunted sky. They chew their gum with frenzied zeal, as poets write their odes; they chew as though they seem to feel some conscientious goads; the Nells and Alices
and Mauds and other sweet berib-boned frauds chew on, and throw their chewed-out wads along the quiet roads. The jaws of gentle little Jill, though wearied, worn and numb, are clanking like a coffee mill, upon her chunk of gum; her study she will never shun, she'll chew until her task is done; all other things beneath
the sun may go to Kingdom Come.

The damsels pass my humble cot in groups of one or two; they seem to have no other thought than just to chew and chew; they haven't time to talk or sing; they haven't time for anything but just to make their jaw-bones swing—oh, here's a howdydo!
I dare remark that chewing gum is not our end and aim; 'tis not the pinnacle of sum of this our mortal game;
the chews now and then should pause, for they can find no nobler cause than this wig-wagging with their jaws until those jaws are lame.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY,
Anniversaries will come but will only exercise your character and make it stronger. Worrying and impatience will bring on ill health and weakness.

Pleasant times will come in your family
and you will form close friendships.
Those born today will be fond of dress and inclined to be vain. They will be too generous for their own prosperity and, although clever, will keep themselves short of money by their careless habits.
